POSSIBLE RIGHT-OF-WAY for a new interstate highway which will link I-270 and I-70 between Highways 111 and 157 has become a site for archaeological study. The site is approximately one mile west of Highway 157 on Illinois Route 162. In an area measuring about 125 by 150 feet, several substantial discoveries have been made which include the location of four Indian homes and several

Developer-county feud on new sewers

By GARY SCHNEIDER

A "budding" might die a slow death during this process. Harry Hartman, attorney for the Madison County Special Sewer Committee, said in a letter addressed to the sewer committee last month. Sanitary sewer installation in Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice townships is scheduled to be completed next year.

The committee was assailed today for allegedly using "stalling" techniques that could hinder home development in the sewer district. Stan Lucas of Granite City, who is building new homes, voiced the complaint.

Lucas, president of SEMCO Corp., has been at odds with the sewer committee, particularly with its engineer, Edward Juneau of the Sheppard, Morgan and Schwab firm, and with committee chairman Louis Whitsell.

He has filed two suits in Madison County Circuit Court to try and force the county to allow him to install sewers in the Fifth Addition to Burton's Subdivision and in the Sixth Addition to Town & Country East.

A key issue is whether a subdivision developer has the right to hire his own engineer and to install sanitary sewers in his subdivision. Lucas claims such rights but says he has been delayed by the sewer committee and then the County Board. He has obtained one permit but not the second.

The committee has sought to keep control of sewer installation and engineering services as a way of monitoring quality control in the project. It is perfecting a proposed ordinance that would formalize such control.

Lucas views proposed wording of the ordinance as an inappropriate restraint. He said what heightened his anger was an apparently misused word, "recommend," in a legal review of the ordinance by Hartman.

The concluding paragraph by the attorney was: "I do not have any suggestions on how to avoid handling of the invitation for bids and letting of contracts through the County Board in the normal procedures, but would recommend that a builder might die a slow death during this process at the rate the County Board handles these matters, in view of the fact that they only meet once a month."

Lucas contends he can put sewers in the ground, designed by professional registered engineers, faster and at a much lower cost than the sewer committee or the county can.

Juneau says the sewer committee has every right to select its own engineer and contractor to put sewers in subdivisions, since the county will own the sewers and be responsible for maintaining them, once the subdivision are completed.

"It is done everywhere. Sewer committees, water companies, phone and power companies all put in their own facilities. No one puts up a power line in Illinois Power territory except Illinois Power. Likewise, no one should put in a sewer the county will have to maintain except the county. It is essential that we protect the integrity of the system.

"If every Tom, Dick and Harry put in his own subdivision's sewer, and then go out of business, we would be stuck with a mess to maintain," Juneau stated.

"One thing should be made clear: we are professional engineers. The sewer committee does not have to use my

Jeffrey L. Mundy, 18, of 3801 Lake Drive, Ponton Beach, and William P. Portell, 18, of 2335 Ponton Road, were fatally injured in a one-car accident north of Paris, Tenn., early Saturday. A spokesman for the Tennessee State Highway Patrol said a motorist discovered Mr. Mundy's car about 5 a.m. Saturday after it had left Highway 119 north of Paris Landing, Tenn., and had gone down an embankment, striking trees.

Both young men in the car were declared dead upon arrival at Henry County General Hospital in Paris. A medical examiner has estimated the time of death between midnight and 4 a.m. Saturday, the spokesman said.

Local authorities notified Mr. Mundy's parents and state troopers located Mr. Portell's parents, vacationing near Paris Landing State Park, and informed them of the accident.

Mr. Portell was born in Granite City and was a lifelong resident of the community. He attended schools here and was a recent graduate of Granite City High School.

In addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William (Julia) Portell, he is survived by one brother, Robert, at home, and five sisters, Misses Darla, Danice and Diane, all at home, Mrs.

2 meetings today on utility tax

A public hearing on a proposed one percent tax on electricity and natural gas bills is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday in the City Hall of Granite City.

And "the Granite City mayor's office has launched a campaign for exploring all possibilities for funding the proposed, 19th Street overpass, including the energy conservation tax" in preparation for the hearing, Arvil Taylor, administrative assistant, said Friday.

Mayor Paul Schuler was to meet with representatives of large industries this morning and Taylor planned to meet with the taxation committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce at lunchtime today.

A meeting also may be arranged prior to Tuesday night with Illinois Power Co. officials to determine how much the utility would charge to collect and distribute funds derived from such a tax.

Granite City has obtained pledges, and secured a total of $3.9 million toward the overpass, which will cost an estimated $5.2 million to construct over the railroad tracks at 19th Street between downtown and West Granite City.

The $1.3 million difference, caused by denial of an Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG), must be raised before the city loses the grant funds already pledged, Taylor explained. The UDAG grant was denied because Granite City did not have enough public housing for minorities or sufficient minority job opportunities, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) ruled.

Recently, Mayor Schuler announced a committee proposal to place a one percent tax on electricity and natural gas in the city and to exempt the first $100 of each month's bill, thus exempting most homeowners from paying the tax.

Plans are to sell $1.3 million in general obligation bonds and repay them from the proceeds of the utility tax, initially estimated at about $300,000 per year.

Granite City Steel has objected, saying that a one percent utility tax would cost that company alone about $500,000 per year, so the amount of the utility tax is among items being reconsidered prior to the public hearing, Taylor said.

"We only need enough to pay the bonds. If a one percent tax is going to bring in too much, perhaps we need to decrease the amount proposed. The amount the power company will take to collect the tax also is a factor we must consider," he added.

An Editorial

Avoid polarization

As this was going to press, meetings were being held with industrial leaders and with a business-related tax committee on the Granite City municipal proposal for a utility tax. The tax would retire bonds that would be issued to help pay for construction of a 19th Street overpass. A public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow at the City Hall.

The initial plan called for a one percent tax on electrical and natural gas bills, with a $100 monthly deductible clause. There is concern that this might be too high a percentage and too high a deductible.

Anything other than uniform application of such a tax might be susceptible to court challenge, and it also would add to the collection complexity and cost. Advocates of uniformity point out that a one percent or half-percent tax on $100 is only $1 or 50 cents per taxpayer.

A point to keep in mind in setting a city utility tax is that it may become permanent and thus should be kept as low as possible. After the overpass is paid for, other essential programs may arise to compete for its revenue.

Another point is that those conferring should avoid anger and polarization of their positions if at all possible.

Both sides have the power to hurt each other — the city through antagonism toward industrial or utility projects, and manufacturers through court action or through less intense development of facilities and fewer employment opportunities. But the local public, caught in the middle, would suffer the most.

BLOCK-LONG LINE at Bob's Mobil, McCambridge Avenue and Edwardsville Road, at 11:15 a.m. yesterday as the few gasoline stations open Sunday ran out of gas. State troopers arrived at Bob's to attempt to clear the blocked lane of McCambridge Avenue, but quickly gave up and allowed the line to stay in the roadway. Motorists in this photo were limited to $5 purchases. One of the drivers in line ran out of gasoline waiting and he and his friends had to push the car up to the pumps.

Degrees were conferred on approximately 2,300 graduates at the 1979 commencement exercises of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The commencement address was given by Dr. Kenneth A. Shaw, president of the university.

The list of candidates included 1,477 for bachelor degrees and 832 for graduate degrees and specialist certificates. At the bachelor level, the School of Education had the most candidates for degrees, with a total of 341. Following close behind, the School of Business had 339 candidates for undergraduate degrees. At the graduate level, the School of Business had the highest number, with a total of 310 candidates for master of business administration degrees. The School of Education had 291 candidates for master of science in education degrees and 26 educational specialist degrees. The remainder of the graduate degree candidates were scattered throughout other disciplines. The honorary degree of doctor of humane letters was presented to R. Buckminster Fuller, university professor emeritus at SIUE and world-known philosopher, mathematician and engineer, and Charles J. Guenther, nationally-acclaimed poet and for many years the supervisory librarian and chief of the technical library at the U.S. Air Force Aeronautical Chart and Information Center.

Distinguished service awards went to C. Kenneth Anderson of Highland, chairman of the board and chief executive officer for Artex International, and Karl L. Monroe, editor of the Collinsville Herald. Arthur Prell, professor of marketing, was the recipient of the Great Teacher Award. Teaching excellence awards went to Richard Boedeker, professor of physics, senior award, and Michael E. Appeal rejected in city pension issue

The Illinois Supreme Court has rejected a petition asking it to hear an appeal of a case in which a Granite City fireman has been held eligible for full salary payments instead of benefit payments under the city's sick leave and disability pension laws.

Irvin Slate Jr., assistant city attorney, notified the City Council last week of the higher court's action and told the council members the case can go no further on appeal actions.

As a result, Robert Harris, a former city fireman now on disability retirement, is expected to receive payments totaling $47,215 to June 1, representing the difference between his benefit payments and the full salary he was receiving at the time he retired on disability in 1972.

Blood supply short; Red Cross mobile unit to visit GC

Following the worst collection week in its history, American Red Cross has issued an emergency appeal for blood donors.

"We routinely need 4,000 units of blood a week in order to keep hospital inventories at a good, safe level," said Pat Nord, assistant director of Donor Resources.

"Due to major cancellations at the last minute, we collected only 2,349 the week of June 4. The week of June 11 was also affected by a cancellation. Last week, we start out with only 330 on the schedule for Monday. This is less than half of the 750 units we need each day."

The Missouri-Illinois Regional Blood Services issues an appeal only after all other resources have failed. Other blood centers—usually a strong resource—are also experiencing similar summer problems and are unable to assist.

"Sometimes we tell people that Red Cross doesn't need blood—people do. "We collect blood on their behalf. And unless healthy people answer our appeal, those hospitalized patients will soon feel the effects of this serious shortage."

In order to donate, people must be 17 years or older and weigh at least 110 pounds. In Missouri, 17-year-olds need to bring written parental consent. People age 66 or older should bring a written statement of health from their physicians.

The Red Cross Blood Mobile unit will be at St. Margaret Mary Church, 1900 St. Clair Ave. on July 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and July 11 from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. and at St. Mary's Church in Madison on July 12 from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m.

27 studying conservation

By MARY BRASE
Joan Thiel looked at the freshly cut willow sapling and counted the three growth rings across the trunk before she hauled it to the disposal site at the end of the rutted road.

"Most of the estimates are right," she said. "The trees are about three years old." She adjusted the blue plastic hard hat over her blonde, ponytail braid, stuffed her small hands into the workman's heavy gloves, and walked back to the cutting area on the dam at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The petite, blue-eyed kindergarten teacher at New City School in St. Louis is one of five teachers and 22 high school students picked to study conservation and earn a summer salary in the federal Youth Conservation Corps program at SIUE this year.

The group had its first lesson in the eight-week project at the end of a crowsfoot saw and a shovel at the overgrown lake site on the campus. Five Quad-Cityans are taking part.

"All year I work inside and I've always wanted to work outside with heavy physical labor," Miss Thiel said. The group will chop down the trees on both sides of the dam, clear the shore area, and use some of the logs to build picnic benches, during a 30-hour work week.

In the other 10 hours, the participants will payse to identify the plants and animals, research the history of the area or take a swim.

The project includes two camping trips, along with plans to build a bridge across a gap in an environmental nature trail, build a natural playground, fence a burial site on a hill, and research the family and the times of the people who lived there.

The only absolute rule is "no screaming if we run into snakes," Miss Thiel said. "I'm the only one who screams," according to Bob Williams, assistant professor of elementary and early childhood education at SIUE and director of the YCC project.

He devised the summer project, wrote the federal proposal, and received a $27,000 grant to develop it. The lake is the first in a long list of environmental projects on the campus, including the possible reconstruction of an authentic log cabin to be used as an educational center for outdoor activities. Williams assured a nearby crew he was only teasing about the snakes. The possibility of running into any snake, especially a poisonous one, is remote, he said. "Now poison ivy..."

he continued, surveying the thriving patch at its feet. The group decided to start with the dam because it needs attention first. The water in the pond follows the tree roots growing into it, according to Lee Hildebrand, a civil engineer at SIUE and technical advisor on the project.

"If you don't keep the dam clear, the roots act like piping," he explained, "draining the water out and weakening the structure."

After the two-acre Romann Lake is cleared, both men hope the university will continue to mow the site to keep it accessible for fishing and picnicking.

Bluegill are still plentiful from Romann's stocking and would delight children who don't care if the fish are little or big, Williams said. "Kids just like to catch lots and lots of fish."

But the workers, who were picked in a random drawing of applicants, are interested in other rewards. In addition to the $2.90 an hour they will earn, Jeanne Stocking, a senior from Edwardsville, said she likes the feeling of being able to say, "I did this."

With her new friends, she stopped for a baloney sandwich for lunch from a brown paper bag and stuck it out the rest of the afternoon. "I enjoy it more than I thought," she said, "the first time," she said, "the first time I thought, 'It's good to do something worthwhile.'"

Junior Deena Hamilton of Grant Fork likes the conservation part. After taking a conservation class at Highland High School, she decided to sign up. The money will help support the 90 prize-winning pigeons she breeds and keeps in the family barn.

A Venice 15-year-old, Walter Davis, gave up a job making glushes and hamburgers at a local confectionary to chop weeds and trees, but he is more worried about the next project—designing and building a preschool playground to meet the youngsters' approval.

"If they don't like it, we have to tear it down and start over again," he said. Cleveland Combs of East

NATURE TRAIL. Ben Harber sickles his way along a nature trail. He is helping build under a Youth Conservation Corps summer program.

St. Louis spent last summer building baseball dugouts and nature trails at Scott Air Force Base in a similar YCC program, and he came back this year for more.

He spent the money "wildly" on model rockets and radio controlled airplanes, but he has sent a cricket "astronaut" up inside the nosecone and brought him back. He plans other flights.

For Paula Cookson of Granite City High School North, the worst part of the first day was trying to keep the mosquitoes and poison ivy off and the hard work. But the money and the opportunity to lose a little weight were worth it, she decided. She will be back to chop the trees on the other side of the dam.

Motorcyclist hurt in crash

Patrick Capps, 24, St. Louis, was injured when his motorcycle and the pickup truck of Edmond Earon, 3018 Denver St., collided at Route 3 (formerly Route 151) and West 20th street at 8:20 p.m. Friday.

Capps was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was admitted with abrasions to his arms and legs and pain to his left foot and ankle.

4-car crash on Nameoki

Otto Schwartz, 83, of 3396 Palm Ave., was injured when his auto was involved in a four-car chain-reaction accident on Nameoki Road at Lindell Boulevard Thursday.

Police were told the northbound autos of Kathleen Bookies, 308 West Third St., Madison, Gerald Vorbees, 3237 Wayne Ave., and Schwartz were northbound on Nameoki Road and stopped for a traffic light when the car of Mike Niemeyer, 2520 Stratford Lane, struck the rear of Schwartz's car, pushing it forward and causing the chain-reaction involving the other two cars.

Niemeyer told police he was watching a bicyclist riding near his car to avoid striking him and when he looked up, he saw the stopped cars in front of him, but too late to stop.

Schwartz went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was treated for abrasions to his left arm and neck pain. X-rays were taken and he was released.

Threatened by man with knife

Bob Finke, 2819 Sunset Ave., told Granite City police last week that a youth threatened him with a knife on the parking lot of Burger King Restaurant, 3406 Nameoki Road, and bit Mitchell Martin, 2824 Marshall Ave.

The two victims were on the lot when a brown 1974 or 1975 Chevrolet Malibu drove through the lot at a high rate of speed and the driver yelled at Martin. When Martin yelled back, the driver stopped the car, got out and bit Martin's right side. Finke interceded in the scuffle and alleged the driver displayed a knife and threatened him. Finke ran into the restaurant and the young man returned to his car and left the scene.

Gasoline problems also where they may do some good—in Washington

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

The long gasoline lines here are a headache for those who live and work in the nation's capital. But Washington's woes could be good news for the rest of the nation.

That, in itself, would be different. "Look at it this way," observed one congressional aide.

"When the gas lines formed in California, nothing much was done here. "When motorists started lining up for gas in New York and New Jersey, it was the same story."

"But after the gasoline lines started here, the House quickly passed a resolution of inquiry."

That resolution directs the Carter administration to come up with understandable answers to basic questions about the current supply, demand and distribution of oil products.

Apparently, there is nothing like waiting in line to pique congressional curiosity about the shortage.

Congressional leaders, as well as the Capitol architect and a few others, can gas up at taxpayers' expense at pumps near the Capitol. But rank-and-file members have to fend for themselves like lesser mortals.

The experience of waiting in line for an hour or more—and possibly enduring the frustration of having a "no more gas" sign pop up as one nears the pump—may do more to prompt a congressman to push for answers and solutions than angry mail from constituents.

Congressmen do have some edges over ordinary folks. They have clout and taxpayer-paid staffs to ease their burden.

One aide to an Illinois congressman confided that his boss has a staff member call service stations to find one with gasoline. A service station that was closed to the general public agreed to sell gasoline to the congressman.

But others are feeling the problem more directly.

"I had to wait in line the other day for more than an hour," complained Rep. Paul Findley, R-Pittsfield.

"The fortunate thing was that my next door neighbor was waiting in line right behind me. She, at least knows that I have to hunt for my gasoline like anybody else."

The gasoline line could become the great common denominator.

I enough congressmen and bureaucrats personally experience the frustration of gasoline lines, they might be more inclined to move beyond rhetoric.

Two are arrested in Pontoon Beach

Randall A. Pacatte, 17, of 4100 Pontoon Road, was arrested by Pontoon Beach police at 12:34 a.m. Saturday and was charged with disorderly conduct for allegedly yelling at officers while they were arresting a military deserter at 20% Jones Park at about 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

Officers said they received a tip that Donald Dickerson, 23, who has no permanent address, was at that address and was absent without leave from the military.

Jones was found at that address and was taken into custody. Pacatte allegedly asked police why Dickerson was being arrested and when police declined to answer him, he allegedly became belligerent and was taken into custody.

Pacatte was lodged in the Granite City jail and Dickerson was transported to Scott Air Force Base where he was turned over to military authorities at 2 a.m. Saturday.

Deputies halt jailbreak

Madison County sheriff's deputies broke up an attempted jail break at the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville last week during which three prisoners, including one from Granite City, were freed only about two minutes, a spokesman for the sheriff's office said this week.

Jail officers Robert Goble and Roy Goodridge heard a scream from the jail cell of Drew A. Callender, 19, 2617 W. 22nd St., on the first floor of the jail and went to aid him.

It appeared he was alone in his cell, but when deputies unlocked the door, two other inmates who had been hiding behind a wall leaped out, struggled with the officers and forced their way out of the cell door, it was reported.

Police alleged the two were Thomas M. Phillips, 19, Troy, and Robert R. Stott, 23, Washington Park. Officer Goble escaped and ran to the front desk to summon help. Phillips allegedly held Goodridge at bay with a crude knife made from part of a shower stall.

Goodridge freed himself within moments and five officers recaptured the three attempting to remove a screen from an exhaust fan opening. They had a set of keys which would have opened some doors, the deputies said.

Phillips was about to be taken to Menard Correctional Center at Chester to serve a three-year sentence for burglary and said he participated in the escape attempt to keep from going. He was transferred Thursday to Menard.

Callender is charged with unlawful delivery of a controlled substance to agents of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGS) and Stott is charged with robbery, deputies said.

Goodridge later was commended for fast thinking when the disturbance began, for putting a set of keys to all the felony cells in the jail in his pocket, rather than leaving them within reach of the three who were trying to escape.

Cycle, car collide on Johnson Rd.

Bryan Barnes, 22, of 4912 rear Hills Ave., was injured at 4 p.m. Friday when his motorcycle and the auto of James Derosselt, 1912 Johnson Road, collided in front of Derosselt's home. Police were told Derosselt's eastbound auto moved toward the center of the roadway as though about to make a left turn and then turned right into the driveway, without using turn signals.

The motorcycle, which was passing the car on the right when it turned, struck the right side of the car. Derosselt was issued a ticket alleging failure to signal a turn.

Barnes was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was treated for abrasions on his right hip, right arm, ankle and knee. He was X-rayed and released.

Officials to ponder financial woes of sanitary district

Madison and St. Clair County public officials will join in a discussion of plans to help the Metro-East Sanitary District overcome its pressing financial problems so that it can repair sewers and lift stations which are in a condition that is causing sewer backups in Washington Park and Cahokia.

A decision to call a meeting of officials was made by the board of trustees Friday at which Centerville Township Supervisor Francis Touchette of St. Clair County, Cahokia Mayor Michael King and Centerville Township Supervisor Joseph Segoch reported they have been receiving complaints of sewer backups.

The sanitary district is without funds and expects no income until tax revenues are received in October or November. Maintenance crews have been trimmed to 30 employees.

Segoch said if there are heavy rains, residents of the Washington Park area will be in serious trouble.

Touchette said he and Mayor King were concerned because the district's financial condition has caused the shutdown of a major repair job on the main sanitary sewer trunk line, which has caused sewer backups clear back to Centerville Township.

King noted that the sanitary district is an operation without money and "I think it is time we get together and do something about it." He said he believed other officials should be called in and "that is the first step to take."

Venice Park Board rejects seniors' use of building

By MICK STRANGE

of the Press-Record

A delegation of about 40 to 50 senior citizens from Venice left a special meeting of the Venice Park Board Thursday upset and angry, according to John Henry Williams, president of the Madison Branch of the NAACP.

By a 3-2 vote, according to Board President Barbara Harrell, the board rejected two senior citizen groups, both of Venice, use of the Venice Recreation building for their meals program.

At the present time the Silver Bells Senior Citizens are meeting in a small room in the Lee Wright Homes and the Venice Senior Citizens Organization is renting space for the meals program from St. Mark school.

The denial of the use of the center is for the period June 11 to Aug. 3.

Board President Mrs. Harrell said she sought to reach a compromise in scheduling the building during the recreation program.

Mrs. Betty Williams, an employee of the park board working with the summer program, said she would quit if her arts and crafts program was changed, according to the president.

As the senior citizens walked out of the meeting, several were reported to have said that the senior citizens will remember at election time who voted against them.

Voting to deny the use of the building by the senior citizens were George Tyus Jr., Mrs. Joan Silas and Mrs. Mary Frances Bauder.

Voting in favor of the senior citizens use of the building were President Harrell and Mrs. Valeta Bauder.

A former summer recreation worker noted that she could not see why the children had to be inside so much. She said she had worked for several years in the program in her late teens and said they wanted to keep the children outside and playing. If it rained they went under the shelters in the park and played games, she said.

Park board employees or the Venice Recreation Director, Willie Teal, could not be reached for comment.

The recreation program is conducted Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., with between 125 and 150 children participating. The children have their lunch between 12 noon and 1 p.m. at the Venice school cafeteria.

The two senior citizen clubs have over 100 members participating in the meal program, according to a Silver Bells spokesman.

WOMAN ARRESTED

Goldie Skaggs, 25, of 905 Bissell St., West Madison, was arrested in the 100 block of Mercedosa Avenue at 11:40 p.m. Friday and was charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct. Venice police alleged she was holding a grass sickle above her head and arguing with several youths. She allegedly threatened officers and raised the sickle, as though to strike them, when another woman grabbed it and wrestled with her. Police then used force to arrest her. She was released at 1:45 a.m. Saturday on $70 bond.

CASH, STAMPS TAKEN

Sharon Kay Owens, 700 Old Alton Road, reported to sheriff's deputies that her home was entered last week and $150 cash and $110 worth of food stamps stolen. The items were taken from a purse while she was absent from the house, she said.

$23,000 fire douses itself

An unusual fire gutted three rooms at the home of Robert L. Jones, 3119 Rodger Ave., Sunday morning and then extinguished itself, it was discovered at 8 a.m. Sunday. Damage is estimated at $15,000 to the house and $8,000 to its contents.

Arson is suspected as fires were started in two separate rooms of the house. Jones said he left the house at 11:15 p.m. Saturday and may have left a door unlocked. There was no fire at home.

When he returned at 8 a.m. Sunday, he found water running from under the front door and the house filled with smoke.

When he entered, he found the fire had been extinguished for some time, since the rooms were cool. Firemen found that water pipes to the bathroom had ruptured and speculated the water turned to steam which extinguished the fire.

Two bedrooms and a utility room were completely gutted, but the exterior of the house showed little evidence of there having been a fire.

There was evidence items were piled near a dresser and set ablaze in the middle bedroom. Flames traveled up the dresser and the wall to the ceiling and spread, burning up a bunk bed. It then spread into the rear bedroom gutting it, firemen said.

Another fire started in a utility room off the kitchen, but caused only minor damage. There was an odor of a flammable liquid in that room, according to investigators.

5th-year county development grant will total $3.9 million

Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City announced at a Madison County Board meeting Wednesday that the county had received a grant of $3,944,000 from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The grant is for the Madison County Community Development program and will be used for housing, rehabilitation, fire prevention, economic development, construction of senior citizen centers and improvement of accessibility for the handicapped.

Hagnauer informed the board that this grant initiated the fifth year of the Community Development program and that over the five years all of the cities and almost all of the townships within the county had benefited from the program.

Approximately 50 communities cooperate with the county as a part of the Community Development program.

Also at Wednesday's meeting, Hagnauer presented former Collinsville Mayor Lewis Krause with a plaque in appreciation of his leadership in the Madison County Community Development program.

Krause was chairman of Region 4 of Community Development from 1974 to 1978.

In other business:

The board approved Hagnauer's appointment of Cheryl Joubert as director of the county's Community Development program. She had been assistant to Mary Kane, who was Community Development director until she became administrative assistant to the County Board this year.

Joe Downey, who formerly worked in the Office of Manpower Services, was named assistant Community Development director.

The board agreed to advertise for bids on purchase of cases for voting equipment.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said that all of the voting equipment for each polling place can be locked in the cases.

The cases can then be left at the polling places and transported back to Edwardsville following the election, she said. Election clerks would only have to bring ballots and ballots sheets to the courthouse on election night.

Use of the cases should help prevent another traffic jam and bottleneck such as occurred after last November's general election, when punchcard ballots were used for the first time, Miss Bowles said.

Job hunter workshops

Tomorrow is job hunting day at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Knowing what you can do and being able to tell a prospective employer about it are the first steps to finding a career and a job, according to David Van Horn (692-2800), director of University Placement Services.

In a series of free workshops, Van Horn will help interested job hunters analyze their skills, June 26 in the Ohio Room of the University Center; develop resumes, July 3; write letters, July 10; devise interviewing tactics, July 17; and find out what employers need and how to contact them, July 24.

Classes will meet each Tuesday from 10 to 11:30 a.m. through July 24. The sessions will be repeated on Wednesdays through August, beginning with skill analysis on Aug. 1.

HOSPITAL DONATION.

At right is Darrel Stephens, vice president of the company. The check for more than $2,000 is a result of local publicity given the hospital, and the word that more than 39 children from Granite City have been received and treated at the hospital in the past 16 months. Heinricher joins the list of other Granite City non-Shriners who are donors to the hospital and contribute a substantial amount each year.

Honored as 50-year masons

David Edwin John and Dr. George T. Wilkins Sr. were honored last week by Triple Lodge 835 of the Masonic Order as both were presented with 50-year membership pins.

John, who is retired from Illinois Power Co., lives at 3128 Colgate Place. He became a Master Mason on June 12, 1929.

John was master counselor of the Granite City Chapter, Order of DeMolay, in 1924.

He is active in the Shrine, Eastern Star and the White Shrine of Jerusalem.

For several years John sang with the Ainad Shrine Chanters.

John is also a recipient of the DeMolay Legion of Honor.

Wilkins became a Master Mason on June 20, 1929, in Cobden Lodge 466, Cobden, Ill., exactly 50 years to the day of the presentation.

A noted educator, Wilkins transferred his membership to Tobes Lodge 1066 where he went to that school system.

Wilkins membership was accepted by Lodge 835 on April 19, 1944.

Wilkins was recommended for membership here by the late Russell E. Strange, Madison, also a 50-year Mason. Wilkins was the Madison superintendent of schools at the time.

Dr. Wilkins Sr. was escorted to receive his 50-year pin by W. F. "Mick" Strange, also a Master Mason and son of the late Russell E. Strange.

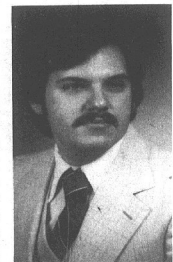

Still surviving Masons who were members of the committee in 1944 that approved Wilkins' membership here are William "Mike" Ebersold, former mayor of Venice and Norman Kinder Sr., who is currently secretary of Triple Lodge.

William "Bill" Mehl, treasurer of Triple Lodge, was chairman of the committee that approved John's membership in 1929.

After presentation of the pins, Mehl addressed the lodge briefly on the contributions his two masonic brothers have made to their community, the Masonic Order and mankind in general.

The presentation of the pins was made by E. Gene Ross, junior grand warden, Grand Lodge of Illinois, AF&AM, and Lloyd E. Roo, worshipful master of Triple Lodge 835.

After the meeting was closed a cake decorated to honor Wilkins and John, along with ice cream, coffee and sandwiches, was served.

DEATH AND DYING — CHALLENGE AND CHANGE XV: THE DEATH SYSTEM.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of 15 articles exploring "Death and Dying: Challenge and Change." In this article, Robert Kastenbaum, author of "The Psychology of Death," examines our integrated death system and the importance of humane care for the dying. This series was written for COURSES BY NEWSPAPER, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

XV. THE DEATH SYSTEM.

By ROBERT KASTENBAUM

For more than two decades now the death awareness movement has persistently criticized the American approach to death and dying.

It would appear that we are afraid to speak openly about death and dying, and we avoid intimate contact with the terminally ill.

Professional caregivers, we are told, assault the dying person with technology rather than providing basic human comfort, and the dying process itself is uselessly prolonged. Our funerals often are tasteless caricatures that demean — expensively — both the deceased and the survivors.

Many of the criticisms have been well-founded. I have been too long among the critics myself as clinician, researcher, and teacher to dissociate from those who have been alarmed by our failings in this area.

However, I suggest we have been quite one-sided in our negativism. We have failed to put our current problems in historical perspective, and to also have failed to develop a clear vision of the options before us — options that permit us to use technical skills in the humane care of the dying person.

ORGANIZATION FOR DEATH.

We usually think of death as a very personal event, and so it is. But at the same time, death is also a public phenomenon, one in which all of society has a critical stake. We cannot fully understand the personal side of dying and death without some appreciation of the social dynamics involved.

Since all societies must cope with death, all must have ways of organizing themselves for this purpose — an interrelated death system.

Death may strike suddenly and seemingly at random from the viewpoint of the individual, but society has expectations, practices, and routines that give death a surprisingly systematic character.

We can look at any society's death system in terms of its component people, places, objects, and symbols. In the United States, for example, people in the death system include medical professionals, funeral directors, "life" insurance salesmen, those who manufacture and deploy weapons, and many more.

Places in the death system include cemeteries and morgues, but also that neighbor's house the children avoid because somebody died there and nobody has taken the care to discuss the matter with them.

Objects in our death system include the tombstone, hearse, and the "black instrument" that was used for murder. Perhaps the will and the tax-sheltered estate should also be considered in this category.

Symbols include the black border around a printed message, the skull-and-crossbones design, a funeral march.

The particular people, places, objects, and symbols vary from one society to another, and over a period of time in the same society. Funeral directors, for example, did not always have their present prominence.

In today's U.S.A., the death system is, among other things, big business. Much of the money that changes hands in our society is death-related.

Who puts up bigger buildings than insurance companies? What would our national economy look like if military expenditures could be deleted?

FUNCTIONS OF THE SYSTEM.

However, it is the functions of the death system that deserve our closest consideration. A society's death system warns of catastrophic danger (tornado forecast . . . the surgeon general warns . . .).

Furthermore, attempts are made to prevent death and to cure illness. When death cannot be prevented, the system provides for comfort to the dying person.

Body disposal is the minimum requirement after death, but most societies also have memorialization rituals and ways to reintegrate survivors into the community. The system is also responsible for explaining death. Why did this person die, in this place, in this way? What does life mean in view of this death?

Finally, all societies also kill. Animals are raised or hunted for their flesh; enemies are "wasted"; offenders may be executed.

Our society today has made notable achievements in two of the classic functions of the death system: No previous society could kill or cure the way we can. The potential of technologically advanced nations to turn the world into a smoldering graveyard stands as an every-present background to the unfolding of our daily lives. We are affected by the possibility as well as the actuality of military violence.

Similarly, our heightened ability to prevent death or cure illness affects us both in actuality and in expectation.

More people survive life-threatening conditions than ever before, but our expectations for cure continue to rise. Thus, we often experience bitter disappointment and bewilderment when the fact of mortality comes home to us.

CURE OVEREMPHASIZED.

The emphasis upon cure has led to an imbalance in our death system and a comparative withering of concern for its other classic functions. Preventing, not comforting, has emerged as such a high socio-medical priority that it has taken a very determined effort to promote a re-discovery of the dying person and his or her needs.

The cure emphasis has also become associated with an increasing tendency to act as though funerals, cemeteries, and remembrances of the dead are no longer important. The person who has lost a loved one is expected to put on a brave face. The dead cannot be cured, and we have little tolerance for the sadness and "uselessness" of the bereaved person.

Similarly, when the entire climate emphasizes cure, we have a harder time than ever trying to explain death.

This general shift in the balance of our death system illustrates a more general principle: technological advances tend to get ahead of their humane application.

It would be foolish to surrender the hard-earned gains of the medical sciences with the vague thought of returning to a rosy past in which both life and death were more "natural." But this does not mean that we must submit to an impersonal, cure-obsessed bureaucratic-medical technology.

THE HOSPICE MOVEMENT.

Consider, for example, what is already taking place with the hospice movement, which is starting to provide special facilities and techniques for the care of the terminally ill.

Administrators, attorneys, and physicians — often cast as unfeeling villains in the drama of the deathbed scene — have been listening to what the nurses have to say, and all have become far more attentive to what terminally ill people and their families actually experience, expect and need. A new balance, a new integration is being developed.

Here, for example, is a case history that is becoming more common:

Mrs. J. knows the truth about her condition — terminal cancer — and she has an open, mutually trusting relationship with her physician.

This trust and knowledge contribute to a more fulfilled quality of life even though death may be in prospect. Family members are welcomed as part of the health-care team, not held at arm's length because they are lay people who wouldn't understand or might get in the way.

Mrs. J. is able to remain at home and active in personally meaningful spheres of life because of the support she has from friends and family as well as the medical treatment she receives.

When it appears appropriate for her to enter a health-care facility, she will continue to have contact with family members and professional personnel who have become part of her life. They will not frantically try every extraordinary measure in a desperate attempt to prolong her life as the end approaches. Nor will there be social isolation.

Instead, terminal care will take its shape from her particular needs and desires and from the compassion as well as the technical skill of the caregivers.

One type of miracle — the last-minute reprieve from death that seldom is far from mind — could possibly occur.

But another type of miracle will be taking place in either event: the creation of a final environment in which the finest human qualities of the patient, the loved ones and the professional caregivers can be expressed.

Tourism emphasis by state

Theme of the 1979 state tourism conference was "Illinois Welcome Centers."

Regional tourism officers and directors attended seminars on various tourism-related subjects such as the energy crisis and making use of the bus industry. They viewed new tourism advertising programs.

The officers' Council of Illinois Tourism consists of representatives of the five regions of the state.

The council works closely with the Division of Tourism, which is directed by the Illinois Promotion Act to "formulate a program for tourism in Illinois, including the promotion of state parks, fishing and hunting areas, historical shrines, vacation regions and areas of historical interest by means of articles and advertisements, consultation and advice on the improvement of tourism facilities, distribution of promotional literature, and administration of a matching funds program to aid existing regional tourism organizations in enhancing their tourist appeal."

John Wheeler, representing Southern Illinois, was elected president of the Officers' Council of Illinois Tourism.

Dr. John Vasiloff, Illinois State Council district deputy, presented the following awards to Council 1088 and Grand Knight Feeler: a plaque from the Illinois State Council for the mentally retarded program, citing outstanding fund raising; a plaque for outstanding programming on the local level; a certificate of appreciation for the state disaster program; and a plaque for the Neuman Apostle award that is supported by the Knights.

Two members were awarded Century Plaques—Joe Giesselemann and Dr. Vasiloff.

Refreshments were served following the meeting.

MOTORCYCLIST CHARGED

Jonathan A. Thomason, 23, of 1061 Fourth St., Madison, has been released on $225 cash bond. He was arrested at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at 8th and Iowa streets, Madison, on a warrant charging him with speeding, unnecessary noise, careless driving and disobeying a stop sign. The incidents allegedly took place on June 7 when he abandoned his motorcycle and fled on foot from police.

T. A. Feeler is re-elected by Knights

T.A. Feeler was re-elected as grand knight of the local Knights of Columbus last week at their June business meeting.

Under Feeler's leadership the past year, Tri City Council 1088 has purchased a 20 acre tract of land for its future home and park. Fifteen new members were added to the roster of the council.

Those elected were: Frank Kierski, deputy grand knight; Frank Vrabec, treasurer; Victor Kahn Sr., chancellor; Ed Evans, advocate; Robert Palus, warden; Kenneth Marti, outside guard; and Keith Sanders, inside guard. Father Victor Chateaufort will serve as the council's chaplain.

During the meeting an admission degree was held and the following three members were initiated into the order of the Knights of Columbus: Richard Chanda, John Gyarmati and Joe Wallace.

Dr. John Vasiloff, Illinois State Council district deputy, presented the following awards to Council 1088 and Grand Knight Feeler: a plaque from the Illinois State Council for the mentally retarded program, citing outstanding fund raising; a plaque for outstanding programming on the local level; a certificate of appreciation for the state disaster program; and a plaque for the Neuman Apostle award that is supported by the Knights.

Cheaper computer purchased for use by circuit clerk staff

It wasn't the bookkeeping machine he originally wanted, but Circuit Clerk Willard Portell finally decided to accept the mini-computer the County Board decided to purchase. Portell sought unsuccessfully at Wednesday's meeting to get the board to seek new bids on the purchase of a bookkeeping machine for his office.

County Board members by a 14-10 vote defeated a proposed resolution to issue new specifications and seek new bids. Later, they voted to delay purchase of the machine until they were told Portell would accept it.

Rodger Elble, Wood River, chairman of the Central Services Committee, told the board that Portell had come to his committee after the May board meeting and stated the original bid specifications were in error. The board in May had voted to authorize purchase of a mini-computer from Monroe Division-Litton Business Systems of Alton at a cost of $9,053.

Portell wanted a machine from the Burroughs Corporation, University City, Mo. that would have cost $9,811.

Elble said the Central Services and County Buildings committees agreed to bring Portell's request before the board, although Elble recommended it be rejected.

Several board members spoke against readvertising for bids.

William Haine, Alton, said the "integrity of the County Board" was the real issue, not whether to purchase one machine or the other.

The Central Services Committee had recommended the Monroe machine be purchased, and it was the duty of the board to uphold the committee, Haine said.

Dan Partney, Granite City, a member of the Central Services Committee, said Portell had had ample opportunity to point out any mistakes in the bidding specifications before the board took its vote.

Partney said he was against buying the machine this year.

Herschel Beane, Godfrey, another member of Central Services, said, "The new specifications are in such

Archaeological site in Quad-Cities' backyard

A small group of anthropology students from Illinois State University have been busy for the past four weeks at an archaeological site on Highway 157 about a mile west of Highway 157.

Their tedious work is part of an environmental impact statement by the Illinois Department of Transportation in connection with the proposed right-of-way for the Interstate link-up of I-270 and I-70.

The group, headed by David Carlson, assistant professor of anthropology at the university, has the painstaking job of learning what detrimental effects the building of the highway could have on archaeological sites connected with Cahokia Mounds Indians.

This site has uncovered four homes of Indian farmers who lived in this area about 900 years ago. Their main crops appear to have been corn and beans.

Above is a plot which has been outlined with string for photographic recording purposes. Note the large piece of pottery at the bottom and the data board near the top of the photo. At upper right is Jill Freund, of McHenry, Ill., delicately scraping away earth from beneath the piece of ceramic pottery, seen at right, which is one of the largest items yet to be found at the site. It measures five and one-half inches at its widest point. It was later wrapped in aluminum foil and tagged for identification.

Each item that is found is first cleared of all surrounding earth using spoons, paint brushes and other small tools so as not to move the item until it is properly photographed and labeled.

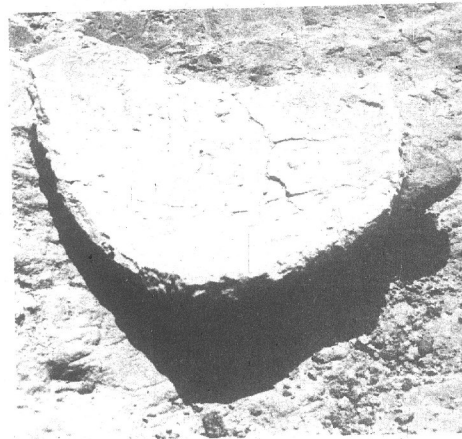

The piece of pottery shown, found by Miss Freund less than an hour before these photos were taken, was meticulously brushed and dirt surrounding the ceramic piece was scraped carefully away leaving only a thin pedestal beneath it. This allows the accurate photographing and mapping of the item.

Also topographical charts are kept which necessitates the taking of elevation readings for each item located.

At left is Carlson near two pits which have been extensively excavated. Usually a half pit is dug, at bottom, to determine if the area is worth total excavation.

Most of the digging and sifting within the 125 by 150 foot site has been less than two feet under the surface.

This week will end the group's work at the site with a future site to be begun north of I-270 in the future. The findings at this site and others will determine which of two possible right-of-ways will be used for the new highway.

Later deadline on truck, trailer plates

The deadline for display of Illinois truck and trailer plates has been extended to midnight Saturday, July 21, Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon said Friday.

Second division vehicles requiring the new black on yellow license plates for fiscal year 1979-80 include farm trucks, trucks, tractors, semi-trailers and trailers. Mileage tax truck and trailer plates cannot be extended under existing law and that deadline remains Saturday, June 30.

Truck and trailer plates are being sold at 566 financial institutions throughout Illinois, as well as at major Secretary of State facilities.

Dixon said the public service center at the Centennial Building and the Dirksen Parkway facility drive-in windows in Springfield, and three motor vehicle facilities in Chicago will be open July 21 for last-minute plate purchasers.

This will be the last year a deadline extension will be allowed for truck and trailer plates.

"It's only fair that we give the same break to farmers and truckers. But this will be the last extension for either passenger autos or trucks, because the 1980 renewal program under the multi-year, staggered registration system does not provide for any legal extensions," Dixon explained.

GC to sell sludge as fertilizer

Granite City aldermen agreed to a suggestion last week that it go into the business of selling fertilizer.

On a motion by Alderman Glen Sprankle, the council voted to advertise the sale of "stabilized sludge" from the city's sewage treatment plant at a price yet to be determined.

Hubbard said, however, that he did not believe the material should be used for areas in which food is grown. The findings at this site and others will determine which of two possible right-of-ways will be used for the new highway.

Hubbard noted the sludge has been "stabilized" and "has weathered for several seasons."

THEFT FROM VAN

Tom Dittich discovered that between 5 p.m. Thursday and 5 a.m. Friday his van parked at Interstate United, No. 7 Caine Drive, Madison, had been entered. Items taken included an AM-FM stereo radio and eight-track player. Other vehicles apparently had been entered during the same time period but nothing apparently had been taken.

Wolf confers with air cargo company

State Rep. Sam Wolf of Granite City announced Friday that a meeting was held by Transportation Secretary John Kramer with area legislators to acquaint them with the status of Illinois as a possible site for a new air cargo facility by the Flying Tiger Line.

Wolf said officials of the Flying Tiger Line were also on hand for the meeting.

Kramer distributed copies of a letter he had received from Flying Tiger in which it was stated that originally four locations had been considered: Columbia-Waterloo, Lawrenceville-Vincennes, Decatur and Quincy.

It has now been decided that two of the locations are to be given closer consideration — Columbia-Waterloo and Lawrenceville-Vincennes sites.

Wayne E. Partridge, vice president of the Flying Tiger Line, said that in order for the two Illinois sites to be considered it would be necessary for feasibility studies to be made, at the expense of the State of Illinois, with such studies to be completed by Dec. 1 of this year.

Discussions were held as to the cost of such studies and as the best means to include the cost in the budget of the Transportation Department. Cost of a feasibility study for four locations was estimated at $400,000.

"Should the facility be located at Columbia-Waterloo, it would employ about 1,000 individuals, not counting these commercial and industrial facilities that would be encouraged to locate in the immediate area due to the air cargo availability," Wolf commented.

"Area Legislators present assured their cooperation to the degree that it would be needed."

HELP ILL CHILD

A 9-month-old boy from East St. Louis was brought to the emergency room of St. Elizabeth Medical Center Thursday evening for a rash and hospital authorities noticed the child had protruding ribs and a distended abdomen, symptoms of malnutrition. They also discovered a skull fracture and numerous bruises. The parents refused to allow the boy to be admitted, until told they could be arrested for child neglect. They then left the hospital, without the child. Police classified the baby as under protective custody and allowed him to be admitted to the medical center.

Tri-City 'leaks' lead to Evansville sweep

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
EVANSVILLE, Ind. —
Somebody call a plumber.
The Tri-City Post 113 American Legion baseball team's defense sprung a couple of leaks here Saturday.

The result of those leaks was a doubleheader loss to the Eugene Parker Post of Evansville here in games played at the University of Evansville. The hosts scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to win the first game 5-3. It scored three early runs in the second game and held on for a 3-2 win.

The two losses dropped Tri-City's overall record to 6-9.

In the first game relief pitcher Al Yount threw three wild pitches to allow the last two Evansville runs to score.

fielder Blake Ambuehl dropped a fly ball, letting in two Evansville runs — after one had already crossed the plate after rightfielder Jim Lewis dropped a tough chance allowing the Evansville batter to run the bases.

Another dropped fly ball — by Tri-City rightfielder Jim Lewis — let Evansville's

first run to reach third base.
"We can't make mistakes like that," said Tri-City manager Kirk Champion.
"Nobody can. A couple of them might have been tougher than usual chances, but they still should have been caught."

Champions said he did see some reason for optimism, however. "Tretter (Jeff) pitched a good game until the seventh inning of the first game," he said. "He made a mistake to the Graves kid, though."

The "mistake" Tretter made was a solo home run by Evansville's Steve Graves leading off the sixth inning which tied the score at 3-3 at that point.

Tri-City had taken a 3-0 lead in the second inning.
Left fielder Lewis singled leading off. He was driven home by Jim Thurmon. Then catcher Steve Ficker hit a ground ball to Evansville pitcher John Sparrow, which sent Thurmon to third.

Ficker reached base when the pitcher mishandled the ball. Ambuehl, who came in as a courtesy runner for Ficker, stole second.
DeGonia rapped a double off the fence in left field, scoring Thurmon. Shortstop Rich

Glen Carbon falls in heart breaker, 4-3

By KEVIN ALLEN

HIGHLAND — Friday night, Glen Carbon's emotions ran from elation to disappointment, all in the span of one short inning.

It was an American Legion baseball contest between Glen Carbon and Highland, and it was one of those last-minute thrillers — for both teams.

Highland won the game 3-2 with a seventh-inning rally that matched Glen Carbon's rally of a half-inning earlier.

The loss knocked Glen Carbon out of first place in the District 22 North Division race. Highland claimed the first place honors with a 5-2 record. Glen Carbon is a half-game behind at 5-3.

Jeff Kottkamp, Highland's center fielder was ultimately the hero of the game, but for a while, it looked as if picking a star in the game would be a difficult decision.

Kottkamp's heroics came in the bottom of the seventh.
His line drive to right field chased Highland's Jay Rinderer home from second base with the winning run.

When hit, it looked as if Glen Carbon's right fielder Jim Robinson might have had a play at the plate on bounced up at the unexpecting Robinson, and glanced over his head.

Rinderer had driven in Highland's first run of the seventh with a double down the left field line, scoring Roger Zobrist who had singled.

It was also Rinderer, the smallest player on Highland's team at about more Granite City boys for the game.

In the third, Joe Gutler singled to start the inning.
After he stole second and two batters struck out, Rinderer delivered a single to left that gave Highland a 1-0 lead.

That one run held up until the seventh, when Glen Carbon finally broke through to Highland's pitcher, Zobrist.

With one out in Glen Carbon's seventh, Mike Robertson singled through the hole at short. Jeff Stamper followed with a shot over the left field fence, that scored Robertson ahead and sent the Glen Carbon bench to its feet.

The celebration at home plate included the entire Glen Carbon team. It was completed by Stamper jumping on the plate.

After the game Glen Carbon coach Art Jovi said the Stamper home run wasn't a result of Zobrist's tiring. "He was throwing curveballs all night and getting us out, but he just got a fastball up where he (Stamper) could see it."

The Glen Carbon jubilation didn't last long, though, as Highland won the game its next turn at bat.

Glen Carbon's starting pitcher, Steve Doty was almost as impressive as Zobrist, the difference was Highland's third inning run.
In fact, in some areas Doty outshined Zobrist. For instance, Doty struck out 12 batters to Zobrist's 11.

Jovi was duly impressed by Doty's performance. "He got a little wild in the last few innings, but he didn't lose any of his speed," Jovi said.

Jovi suggested some of the Free style wrestling

Eight Granite Cityans advance to state meet

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — If the Illinois Wrestling
Federation's state-qualifying district wrestling match held here Saturday at GCHS South is an accurate indication, freestyle wrestling is named not so much for the style of wrestling as for the mood of the meets.

For spectators accustomed to the relative orderliness of high school or collegiate meets, the organization of the freestyle meets is like a foreign language.

Despite the difference, eight Granite City high school wrestlers qualified for the state tournament scheduled for July 7 in Brookport, Ill.

The tournament used a qualifying system that narrowed down a large field by eliminating wrestlers with a black-mark system.

Qualifying rounds were held in each weight class.
Wrestlers received negative points determined by the margins of their losses.
When a wrestler received a certain amount of negative points he was eliminated from the competition.

When all but three wrestlers from each weight class were eliminated, a round-robin round was held to determine first, second, and third places. Only first and second place finishers qualified for the state meet.

Only three of the Granite City state qualifiers finished first in their weight classes.
Don King of South had only one win to match to take the first spot at 191½. Only he and Scott Polson, also of South, were entered in the division. King won 14-4, but both he and Polson qualified.

Tracy Patton of North also finished first at 123 pounds.
But Patton had more trouble than did King. Patton had three matches just to enter the round robin. In those matches he lost to Jim Truman of Belleville, 10-8; pinned Jim Koburn of Bethalto; and beat Steve Armstrong of Cahokia, 19-5.

In the round robin, Patton pinned Larry Pannell of East St. Louis and beat South's Lupardus, who finished second, 13-7 for the top spot of the division.

Another South wrestler, Jim Frangoulis, also placed first in the 178 weight class.
Frangoulis like King was in division with only one other wrestler, John Jackson of East St. Louis. Frangoulis pinned Jackson in 1:03 for the championship.

In addition to Lupardus and Polson, three other

Granite City wrestlers qualified as second place finishers.

At 96 pounds, Chris Cottrell of South won his first match, beating Ki Kristoff of Bethalto 9-3. But Cottrell was pinned by the eventual first place finisher, Bobby McDaniel of Cahokia, in 3:30 in his second match.

Jerry Miller of South was second among three wrestlers in the 114½-pound class. Miller beat Mike Geller of Belleville, 20-7 in his first match, but lost to first place finisher, Mark Kristoff of Bethalto, in his second match, 21-7.

Kevin Shennell of North was second at 132 pounds. He won three matches in the opening rounds, including two by pins, and lost once. In the round robin, he beat teammate Bobby Kirgan,

BAC lands three GC kickers

BELLEVILLE — Belleville Area College could have a definite "Granite City flair" at its next season.
BAC head soccer coach Mike Moore made the announcement Friday that he has recruited three of the best high school players from Granite City for his squad of next season.

have decided to enroll at BAC.

DeMott was the leading scorer at GCHS North last season. Costello was the goal keeper for South's state champions. Schwartzkopf was one of the top scorers at South.

In addition, Moore announced that he has recruited several other area kickers in what could be his best recruiting year ever.

Also enrolling at BAC next season will be: Brian Hess, Jim Steinwagner, Bob Sova and Dennis Garcia from Collinsville; Chris Generous, John Winter, Tim Verdu and Randy Kuhlman from Belleville West; Steve Rainbolt from Belleville East; Brian Vollmer and Harry Anderson from O'Fallon; Troy Robinette from Belleville Althoff; Pete Morgan from Maryland and Phil Beginski from Massachusetts. The latter two played at Scott Air Force Base.

"I'm still talking to some more Granite City boys for next season," said Moore. "I say who they are, but I'm hopeful they will decide to go to BAC next year also."

Moore said that the addition of the Granite City players adds "veteran poise" to his team. "There's a good chance that the Granite City boys will see a lot of playing time," he said.

"I've never had a Granite City player who didn't get a lot of playing time in here and I see no reason to change it with the group we've got coming next season."

Moore said that two-day workouts for the soccer team will begin Aug. 13 at BAC.
Classes will start Aug. 20.
Moore said anyone wanting to try out for the team should go to the Aug. 13 work out or call him at BAC.

It was also announced that two former Granite City stars who played two years at BAC have picked the head colleges they will attend next year.

Mike Austin, a former GCHS South player, will play for Indiana State University at Evansville where he will major in biology. He was a two-year starter, for Moore at BAC and had 13 goals and 13 assists last season. Terry Carden from GCHS North, a two-year fallback at BAC, will also attend ISU-E next season.

After long wait, King makes it to state

DON KING

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Don King looked restless. He moved from metal folding chair to the wrestling mat from the judges table to the cool breeze outside. He was waiting for his match to come up. At 19½ pounds, he was in a weight class with just two contestants. He and Scott Polson.

Both had wrestled for Granite City South during the high school season, but now they were entered in the district of the Illinois Wrestling Federation's free-style tournament.

Both first and second place finishers in the tournament would earn the right to go to the state tournament in two weeks.

So, no matter how the match between the two teammates turned out, both knew they would qualify for state.

"I'd prefer to have more people to wrestle," King said as he leaned back in a folding chair near the edge of the mat. "It's more of a challenge when you wrestle someone you don't know, they may be better than you expect."

While waiting for his match with Polson, King watched some of his other teammates wrestle. Some had completed up to three matches before he began to warm up for his first and only time on the mat.

But King kept occupied. He shouted encouragement to his friends on the mat, frequently running up between periods to demonstrate a move, or just offer a cooling towel.

"I was expecting more people to be entered before I came today," King said. "You have to have a federation card and money for an entry fee to enter."

King waited nearly three hours before his match was called over the loud speaker on the judges table. Three hours of waiting resulted in six minutes of wrestling. He and Polson squared off at the center of the mat. For the first minute neither could manage to break on the scoreboard. Then, with 55 seconds showing, King scored a three-point fall.

After that, it was all King. At the end of the second period the score was 12-0. King picked up four more points in the final period, while Polson added only two.

The final was 14-0. "It's hard to get up for a match when you know both of you are going to state," King said. "You look forward to going up there even so."

King said one of the main reasons he regretted not having more competition here was the level of competition in the state tournament.

"When you go up there you face guys from Chicago. Those guys practice 12 months a year," he said.

After his match with Polson, King came back to his folding chair beside the mat. He was winded, and sat, regaining his breath. "I was really sucking air out there," he said.

A friend who had been talking to King from time to time during the meet came up. "Well, was it worth it?" he asked.

"I don't know," King said. "I needed the practice. Ask me again in two weeks and I'll tell you."

'Hitless' Mitchell drops doubleheader to Collinsville

By TOM SCHOCKER
for the Press-Record

COLLINSVILLE — "Where have all the hits gone?" If the Mitchell Athletic Club could put that to music they would be singing it after Sunday's game with Collinsville. Collectively they could muster only 11 hits on the day of a stingy Collinsville pitching staff. Mitchell dropped both ends of their twin-bill 8-5 and 14-7 to Collinsville in the Inter-City League action Sunday at Fletcher Field.

Just about everyone in the Inter-City League believes that the Music Room Vans is the team to beat but Collinsville player-coach Bob Scott said, "Our defense is sound and we are finally hitting the ball. We are coming around." In a previous meeting the Vans defeated Collinsville twice. "We played them a good ball game," said Scott. "We made the plays and we didn't." He was very optimistic about their chances. "If anyone has a chance to patch and beat the Vans, we do," said Scott.

Collinsville took its 9-3 record and proved its second place ranking with an awesome display of batting, singling Mitchell "to death" in the first inning. They collected six hits, five in a row, which allowed five runners to cross home plate. With a comfortable lead they insisted on sitting on their heels.

Getting bored with just five runs Collinsville's bats went back to work in the third and an additional run was gained on a couple of hits. The fire power of the opponents was finally too much for the Vans. Pitcher Mike Stanton as two more base hits and a walk chased him to the bench. Relief pitcher Terry Page came in the game throwing smoke but Collinsville kept on hitting. After recording the first two Page bears down. Unfortunately a triple crushed his hopes and two more runs came home.

Being down eight runs entering the sixth inning of a seven inning game seems to be an unbelievable task. Mitchell, determined as always, almost made believers out of the fans and themselves. A good hitting eye proved beneficial as Collinsville issued five walks, coupled with two hits and Mitchell exploded for five runs of their own. The big blow coming from Bob Gibson with a bases-loaded double.

Already convinced it can score runs, Mitchell was sparked up for the final frame. That spark was extinguished by Collinsville's pitching. Mitchell's player-coach didn't have much to say after the game. "It was a tough one to lose. The ball had eyes for the Vans," said Crawford.

Once a mistake has been made, some sort of alteration should be done to correct that mistake so that it doesn't happen again. In the case of the second game with Collinsville, Mitchell did not correct that first mistake.

As in game one, the nightcap proved very rewarding for Collinsville as their biggest run production came in the opening frame. It used every device in the book to score their runs. An error, wild pitch, passed ball, stolen base, walk and of course its ever present base knocks enabled Collinsville to score six times.

Trying to top its previous run output Collinsville added two more in the second before Mitchell could break through. Hitting the ball plagued Mitchell all afternoon but whatever hits they did get they capitalized on. Scoring three in the second, two in the third and a Bryan Sikes triple with the bases loaded in the fourth for three added Mitchell to 6-9. Its efforts were just not enough.

Collinsville, afraid of a comeback, put the game out of reach with a five run barrage in the fourth. Mitchell tried to dig up a rally but could only find one run in the fifth and lost the game by seven. Player-coach Ken Crawford relieved in the fifth, giving up one hit in two innings of work.

The double loss had a definite effect on Crawford as his only words were, "I just really feel down." In a final effort Crawford said, "The way I felt in relief, maybe I should have started myself in one of those games. Then, of course, I would be second guessing myself."

Kabbes signs with SIU-E

EDWARDSVILLE — Scott Kabbes, a six-foot, 175-pound basketball guard from St. Anthony High School in Effingham, has signed a letter of intent to enroll at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to Cougar Coach Jim Dudley.

An all-star on both the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association and the Chicago Tribune honor teams his senior year, Kabbes is a deadly outcourt shot. In three years on the St. Anthony squad, he hit an average of 48 percent from the floor and 79 percent at the free throw line.

Cheek enrolls

EDWARDSVILLE — Keith Cheek, a 6-1, 155-pound guard from Rantoul, Ill., has signed a letter of intent to enroll at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to Cougar Coach Jim Dudley, varsity basketball coach.

A guard, Cheek averaged 15.7 points per game and led the Rantoul High School team in scoring. A deadeye shot at the free throw line, he averaged 833 on his free throws. He was named the team's Most Valuable Player his senior year. His coach at Rantoul High was Bill Anderson.

Over the two years he played on the Rantoul varsity, Cheek was picked twice on the Chicago Sun-Times all-state honorable mention squad. In addition, he was picked his senior year as the Most Valuable Player in the Champaign tournament.

A second baseman named

Shelby Biggs from Casey,

Matron third baseman Joe

Baker, Belleville West

pitcher Austin Kat-tenbracker and New Athens'

Ken Pour. You tell me that

Biggs has better statistics than Kabbes. I don't know if he's as good as Kabbes, but I still probably won't believe you.

Even if Biggs' statistics were as good as Kabbes',

it still wouldn't qualify him for election to the All-State team. Casey just simply do not face the kind of competition that Granite City

North does. Casey is a school of an enrollment of 463.

But my purpose is not to put down Biggs. I'm sure he is a fine ball player. He wouldn't have been comsidered if he wasn't. But my gripe is with the selection process — more explicitly,

the selection committee is headed by Ron Klein of New

Trier East High School. In fact, the Illinois High School

Association has an entire

"starting lineup" of Chicago area directors.

For instance: The President is Ed Puck of Hinsdale South. First Vice-

President is Ron Gaudin

of Rich East. Second

Vice-President is Mike

Kincannon from Addison

Trial.

The Executive Secretary

is Bill Bonk from Quigley

South; Treasurer is Ken

Niebrugge from A.A. Stag.

Best of all, the selection is made up of people from Sandburg, Evanston and

New Trier East.

In the Advisory Board, members are from the University of Iowa (?),

Illinois State University,

the University of Illinois,

Chicago Circle and the College of DuPage.

It seems funny to me that

NOT ONE PERSON on the staff of the IHSBCA is from Southern Illinois. In fact, the person from the farthest west is a coach on the Advisory Board — Duffy

Bass from Illinois State.

It's obvious that the Southern Illinois players

going up against a stacked deck every time they are in contention for any state-wide honor. A coach is naturally going to vote for "his" boy, or one of his team has played against.

judging from the way

Granite City South whipped

defending Class AA

champion Chicago Marist

last year, it's not surprising that the way Granite City

North was able to hit the "wonder child" pitcher Bartolomucci from Oak Forest

— in the state tournament,

one would think the Chicago coaches would realize that from this area, they need play baseball "down there."

Not only that, but a tiny

CARBONDALE — A pair of holiday tournaments, four doubleheaders with the Saluki men's team, and a meeting with the Saluki women's team, will be held at the Saluki Center in Carbondale, Ill., Dec. 27-29.

SIU-C women's coach Cindy Scott labeled the upcoming schedule as "attractive and challenging."

"Our schedule is probably the most competitive we've ever put together for a SIU women's basketball team," Scott said.

"We kept all our strongest opponents in the last season and added some toughies like Drake, DePaul and Minnesota. The schedule should test our squad and prove appealing to the fans as well."

Scott pinpointed the Queens College tournament as an exceptional opportunity for the new SIU-C edition.

Scott said the return to Carbondale to open the 1980 portion of their season Jan. 5 against Western Kentucky, yet another newcomer to the SIU hardwood schedule.

Home meetings with arch-rival Northwestern (Jan. 10) and dangerous Indiana University (Jan. 26) should keep the Saluki drive toward post-season tournament play.

BOWLING NEWS

'THIRD IN FIRST.' After completing its first year of competition, the men's intercollegiate bowling team of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville placed third in the Association of College Unions-International team sectionals in Kansas City, Mo. Displaying the team's first

Cope singled in Ambuehl. But that was all for Tri-City in the scoring column. Even though it banged Sparrow around to the tune of nine hits in the game, they could not find the proper combination for a scoring threat.

But Evansville did. After scoring single runs in the third and fifth innings, it brought the roof down on Tretter and Tri-City in the sixth.

After Graves led off with his home run, Tretter was lifted in favor of reliever Yount. "Jeff looked as if he was getting tired out there," said Champion. "He had pitched a good game, but seemed to be giving out the last couple innings or so."

Evansville's Dan Ray reached base on an error by the Tri-City shortstop, Rich Cope. The ball took a bad hop and flew over Cope's head, allowing Ray to reach second. Fred Maurer then singled him home with what proved to be the eventual winning run.

Mike Thomas of Evansville then reached base on a fielder's choice. Tri-City forced out Maurer at second base. He advanced to second on a wild pitch by Yont which allowed Ray to cross the plate. Thomas advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on Yount's third WP of the inning.

"They were all curve balls in the dirt," said Champion. "Picker could not handle them, but they were wild pitches."

In the second game, the leaks appeared in the first inning in the Tri-City defense. Leading off, Evansville's Terry Eli singled to centerfield. Then Ray lined a shot to Lewis, who had moved from left to rightfield. Lewis came up with the catch, but — looking to double Eli off first base — dropped the ball. Both runners were safe, putting runners at first and second with none out.

A passed ball by Ficker sent Eli to third. Ray stayed at first, but stole second on the next pitch from Tri-City starter Dave Weil.

Maurer walked, loading the bases. The next Evansville batter grounded to Cope who threw to first baseman Todd McFarland for the out. Eli scored from third on the play.

A fly ball to Ambuehl in left field was dropped, allowing two more runs to cross the plate before Weil shut the door on Evansville.

Tri-City, however, chipped away at the Evansville lead. In the fourth inning, DeGonia tripped to left-center and scored on a passed ball for Tri-City's first run of the game.

In the sixth inning, DeGonia once again tried to pump life into the Tri-City cause. He reached base when he beat out the Evansville catcher's throw to first on a passed ball after a strike out. He stole second, went to third on another passed ball and scored on a single by third baseman Jeff Parker.

But that was all the scoring for Tri-City in the game. Evansville pitcher Ray Chapman allowed them only two hits the entire game.

NOTES: Regular Tri-City catcher Mark Linhart missed the Evansville trip because of a summer job that occupied his weekend. He is expected to be back in the starting lineup Tuesday when his team travels to Edwardsville. ...Champion may have found a new infield. He may have Rich Cope at shortstop, Kevin Sykes and second along with Parker at third and either McFarland or Thurmon at first Tuesday. He would move Bob Stegemeyer from second to the outfield, as he did Saturday against Evansville. ...The coming week will "make or break" Tri-City, according to Champion. His team has games against Edwardsville, Glen Carbon and Collinsville. Glen Carbon and Edwardsville are one notch higher than Tri-City in the District 22 North Division standings at 5-3. Tri-City's league mark is 5-4.

Glen Carbon
 game might be attributed to the lighting of the Highland park. "They didn't see these lights in high school," he said. "I think it may have been a problem early in the game." Whatever the explanation, neither team had much in the way of base runners. Zobrist hit Glen Carbon to only four hits in the game, and walked only one. Doty gave up five hits and walked four.

Jovi sees the meager performance at the plate as a disturbing trend. "We've been getting nothing from the top of our line-up," he said. "Tom Green (Glen Carbon's number three batter) hit over 400 in high school. Now he's slipped below 300."

Variable rate mortgages soon

Savers, home buyers and mortgage lenders stand to benefit from new Federal Home Loan Bank board regulations, according to an expert. The regulations, authorizing variable rate mortgages and affecting savings accounts, take effect July 1.

The new mortgages can benefit home buyers in the long range, said Donald P. Morton, president of the Illinois Savings and Loan League. The league is a trade association representing virtually all S&L's in the state.

A variable rate mortgage is a loan whose rates can change, generally as economic conditions change, and typically only within strict limits, either up or down over the life of the loan. Morton expects rate mortgages (VRM's) to be offered to Illinois borrowers at 1/8 percent below market rate, except during periods of tight money. In California, where VRM's were authorized last year, initial interest rates have been almost 1 percent below conventional mortgages, he said.

As it now stands, federally-chartered savings and loans can offer variable rate mortgages July 1, but unless the Illinois General Assembly enacts legislation by June 30, state-chartered institutions will not be able to.

Because most economists feel that mortgage interest rates are at their peak now, borrowers who take out variable rate mortgages will save money as interest rates go down, he predicted.

"This is the time to have a variable rate mortgage," Morton added. "Under the regulations, if the cost of funds goes down, mortgage lenders must pass those savings on to holders of such mortgages. The homeowner's monthly mortgage payment would decrease."

Three new federal regulations deal with savings accounts. In an effort to promote thrift, federal regulators authorized effective July 1 a rate boost for passbook accounts, a new four-year certificate pegged to Treasury securities, and the removal of minimum deposit requirements for most account categories.

A change for savers is the elimination of requirements for minimum denominations on most consumer-type time deposits, Morton said. While institutions may set their own minimums, this could mean small savers will have a better chance of keeping up with inflation, he said.

The importance of savings and loan associations' specialized role in providing home mortgage loans was reaffirmed, as the new savings regulations continue to permit S&L's to pay one-quarter of one percent more than commercial banks for the same offerings, Morton added.

The new variable rate mortgages carry built-in safeguards. The new rules, for instance, allow the loan rate to change only once a year—and then only in accordance with a nationwide savings and loan cost-of-funds index published by the Federal Home Loan Bank.

The maximum allowable increase, or decrease, under the new rules is 1/2 of 1 percent per year. The loan rate can increase no more than 2 1/2 percent over the life of the loan, but there is no overall limit on how far the rate can decline.

The purpose of the variable rate mortgage, Morton said, is to help assure a "stable supply of funds to the mortgage market."

Felicia D. Koch, M.D., group vice-chairman of the Tri-Cities Area United Way fall 1979 campaign, made the announcement.

Moore will recruit and manage the activities of five unit leaders and their volunteer campaigners who will seek contributions from prospective givers in a United Way division comprised of 90 givers.

The contributors have, for many years, provided strong volunteer and financial support to the local United Way effort, Dr. Koch commented.

Gasoline 68.9 cents on bid

When the Madison Board of Education at its Thursday evening meeting opened the only bid received to furnish 500 gallons of regular gasoline, all were surprised.

The Plaza (Conoco) Motor Fuel, Alton, Ill., submitted a bid, dated June 7, 1979, for 500 gallons at 68.9 cents per gallon.

However, the excitement died as the bid was read, as it included a stipulation that the "price will change as our consumer tank prices change."

The board voted to accept the bid.

No bids were received for gasoline for the drivers education car or the school van.

The board renewed a tax levy for special education, in the amount of four cents per $100 assessed valuation. This is done every eight years under Illinois school regulations.

The board discussed the need for revamping some of the buildings to better handle handicapped children. Cost and details of what needs to be done in this area are to be studied and included in the 1979-80 school budget.

The board authorized Superintendent of Schools John Palchett to prepare a tentative budget and appropriation ordinance for the regular meeting Aug. 10.

A call for the final adoption of the budget and appropriation ordinance will be on Thursday, Sept. 20.

The board authorized Palchett to act as the official representative of the board in all State of Illinois special education programs.

The board awarded a contract to Lakeside Roofing Company, Granite City, in the amount of $13,324, low bid, for repairs and resurfacing of the Louis Baer school roof. The only other bid received for the roof was $17,526.

The board cancelled the July 5 meeting and will hold a regular meeting on July 19.

Eta chapter to install

Eta Chapter of Phi Tau Omega met last week for a dinner party at Rusty's Restaurant in Edwardsville. Plans for an installation to be held July 11 were discussed.

Hostesses for the evening were Ann Tatum, Alma Fletcher and Mary Evelyn Yencho.

Cards were played and prizes were awarded to Betty Krug, Shirley Morgan, Millie Greathouse, Mary Lou Richeson, Evelyn Todd and Gladys Wagner. Others present were Georgiana VanBuskirk and Lois Hodge.

HONEST MAN

Marcus Kolb, manager of the Madison Burger Chef, called police at 7:15 p.m. Thursday and gave them a reddish tan cloth purse with $1,267 plus a credit card in it. Police tracked down the owners, John and Dorothy Hanks, 904 Grand Ave., who were shopping at Schermer Brother's market, and returned the money to Mrs. Hanks.

Urioste-Caton engagement

A July 14 wedding is being planned by Miss Carrie Sue Caton and Michael Anthony Urioste.

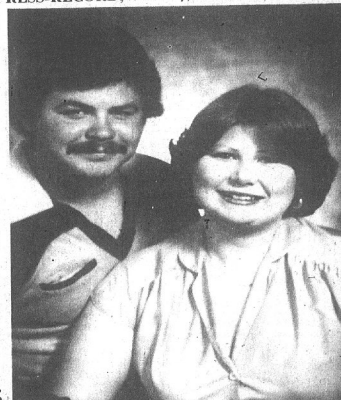

The bride-to-be is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Caton, 6 Lakeview Drive. The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Urioste, 1132 Greenwood St., Madison.

Miss Caton graduated from Granite City High School North in 1976 and is employed as a secretary for the Madison County State's Attorney's office.

Her fiancé is a 1977 graduate of Madison High School. He is employed by Luria Brothers in Granite City.

The ceremony is to take place at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison.

Hogan residence shot at in Venice

The residence of Earl and Carl Hogan, 221 Kerr St., Venice, was fired upon at 12:30 a.m. Friday.

Police were met by Earl Hogan in front of his home just after the shooting and he told police he had heard several shots being fired.

Police found where a bullet had entered the upper portion of a front window, passing through the window, entering and exiting a fire place chimney, ricocheting off the east wall and landing in front of the fireplace.

The caliber of the projectile found in the house has not been determined.

Carl Hogan told officers he saw a white over gold Chevrolet pass in front of his residence heading east at the same time the shots were fired.

A Venice policeman on his way to the scene of the shooting saw a similar car, drive south on Fourth Street, with a man driving.

Later in the evening Earl Hogan told police he received a telephone call at 1:42 a.m. from a man trying to disguise his voice and asking Hogan if he had any bullet holes in his car.

At 1:57 a.m. Friday the man called back, Hogan told officers.

3-YEAR SENTENCE
Kenneth A. Daugherty, 21, St. Louis, has been sentenced to serve three years in prison after a trial ended in a guilty verdict on a charge of unlawful use of a weapon. The charge was the result of a Venice incident Dec. 29, 1978. Circuit Judge John L. DeLaurenti pronounced sentence.

Remembering those out of place people

Have I mentioned my terrible memory? I can't remember. My husband says that I will be senile by the time I am 35. The worst part of my lack of recall seems to be when people are out of their places.

I seem to function better when I can relate a person to something else, like their place of employment. But let me see that same person at the grocery store and I'm in trouble.

Having a rotten memory is definitely a disadvantage in my business. I meet so many people and should be able to remember their names. But I can't.

I do remember faces; but names, forget it. It happens to me a zillion times a year. I will walk into a gathering of my fellow human beings and someone will walk up to me and say, "Hi, Cathey, how ya doing?" I look, I recognize, and I can't recall the name.

I have learned to fake my way through that type of situation, but I wish I didn't have to.

I have heard that there are memory courses one can take, but I can't remember where I heard it.

Although people being out of place seems to give me fits, I also lose things. I forget where I put the 'car keys five minutes after I lay them down.

I misplace everything. I don't dare tuck anything away for safe keeping, because I'd never see that thing again.

Regarding memory, there was one additional point I wanted to make that would bring this column to an effective and somewhat humorous conclusion. But, you guessed it—I can't quite recall what it was.

Day camps for cubs in July

Day camps for local cub scouts have been scheduled for July 9 through July 12 and for July 16 through July 19.

Day camp activities, which are to begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 3:15 p.m. each day, include olympic type competition in Wilson Park, participation in a county fair in Highland, and rocket races and games of the future at Collinsville Park, and a trip to Camp Sunken near Potosi, Mo.

Registration fee for each cub and leader is $10. Each scout must bring one new member to the camp, and one adult must accompany every eight cub scouts.

Cubs are to take a sack lunch each day. A lunch drink will be provided.

Family clinic to be open twice weekly

BAC uniquely successful in serving war veterans

A special contract for the counseling of veterans was approved last week by the board of Belleville Area College.

The contract with the Veterans Administration will continue for several years, with special counseling and testing for approximately 140 each year.

Belleville Area College's veteran enrollment continues to be among the highest of the state's colleges and universities.

BAC was the only Illinois college to have an increase in veteran enrollment during the fall 1978 semester. It had the least decline of any Illinois college in the spring of 1979, and it experienced an unprecedented 25 percent increase in veteran enrollment for the summer term this year.

The special counseling, aggressive outreach programs, public information, and practical vocational programs have been listed as reasons for the large veteran enrollment at BAC during a time when other colleges nationwide are experiencing a large dropoff in the number of veterans enrolled.

Belleville Area College employees will receive 17 cents a mile for the use of their own cars for college business in the future, it was decided. Previous reimbursement was 13 cents.

President William R. Keel pointed out that other tax-supported organizations locally and statewide give from 16 to 20 cents per mile reimbursement, and he recommended that the college follow the present federal allowance of 17 cents per mile.

Progress on the third and final phase of Belleville Area College's building program is "on schedule," according to Gene Hausmann, architect with WHGK Architects, Inc.

Hausmann said the lower slab is 50 percent poured and the plumbing and electrical equipment that goes into the slab is complete.

He also reported that the state has approved a Honeywell energy management system for the new portion of the campus.

This action, Hausmann said, "opens the door to possible 75 percent reimbursement by the state" although there is no guarantee of that.

Payments to contractors from the Capital Development Board total $1,237,800 in the project, which is estimated to cost slightly more than $2½ million.

Hausmann estimated that the work would be completed in plenty of time for classes to begin in the new facilities a year from now, in the fall of 1980. The new buildings will house a permanent gymnasium and classrooms and laboratories for several vocational programs.

BAC board members indicated approval of a one-year lease of Washington School in Granite City to become effective July 1, if it is approved also on Tuesday, June 28, by the Granite City School Board.

Approximately 40 daytime classes are scheduled to operate out of Washington School beginning Aug. 20.

The facility will be leased by the college in an attempt to reduce skyrocketing driving expenses for Granite City area students.

Basic credit courses which lead to a transfer degree are to be taught. Larry Schmalenberger, who has been appointed to oversee the Granite City daytime program, estimates that students can take 75 to 90 percent of the courses required for a liberal arts degree at Washington School if the program is successful.

The evening extension program presently operated out of Granite City High School South will continue virtually unchanged, Schmalenberger said.

The college board authorized Pres. Keel and college attorney Norman Nold to negotiate the sale of 2.146 acres of college land to the Illinois Department of Transportation for road improvement.

A narrow strip of the college property along Green Mount Road and additional land near the entrance of the college are needed for widening of the road and installation of traffic signals.

A construction easement along the perimeter of the 150-acre campus will be granted to the Department of Transportation for the duration of the construction project.

The BAC board officially commended instructor Charles Gledeman and members of the Dutchmen's Breeches horticulture club for the landscaping the club has done on the college campus.

The commendation was unanimously passed, as was a resolution of appreciation to Farm Bureau Director Don Williams, who is leaving this area. Williams has served on the Belleville Area College agriculture advisory committee since 1971.

An additional $20,000 in worthy money has been received by BAC, bringing the grant to $51,827 for the 1978-79 school year. Work study funds provide 80 percent of the salary for student workers, with the other 20 percent being accepted by the college.

Additional grant funds for a senior nutrition project in the amount of $181,785 were accepted by the Board of Trustees at its June meeting.

Several persons were re-employed and two others were hired for various positions funded by state and federal grants. Positions approved by the BAC board were:

Carolyn Smith, grant specialist for disadvantaged Student Grants; Norma Doornbos, director of the Disadvantaged Student Grant; Patricia Brian, director of Project Positive Step—Retention; Mary Joan Flecher, director of the Indochina Refugee Education Project; and Bonnie Eddings, director of Positive Step—Information and Referral.

Board members postponed the appointment of a director of the college's nursing program. The administration had recommended Betty Thompson for the position. Mrs. Thompson, who holds BSN and MSN degrees from Washington University, has been department chairman in nursing education at State Community College since 1971. Prior to that, she served as an associate professor at Forest Park Community College and as an instructor in psychiatric nursing at St. Vincent's Affiliated School for Psychiatric Nursing.

Board Member Curt Eckert, noting that only seven applications had been received for the position and that the position had not been advertised in nursing journals, moved that the appointment be delayed and the search broadened.

Dr. Keel indicated that the seven applications, including Mrs. Thompson, will continue to be among those considered for the job. The board voted unanimously for Eckert's motion.

Two-year contracts were granted to some BAC administrators who have been employed by the college for four years are eligible for two-year contracts upon recommendation of the president. No salary adjustments were made at the June board meeting.

Lead acting role for Linda Parish

Miss Linda Parish, daughter of Norman and Elaine Parish of Granite City, has been cast in Neil Simon's "God's Favorite," the opening production of the Beacon Hill Summer Theater in Point Lookout, Mo.

Beacon Hill is an extension of the Speech Communications and Theater Arts Department at The School of the Ozarks College, Point Lookout. Miss Parish is currently a junior at the college, majoring in speech education.

In "God's Favorite," transforming the Biblical story of Job into a modern comedy that is called philosophical, relevant and funny, Miss Parish will portray Rose.

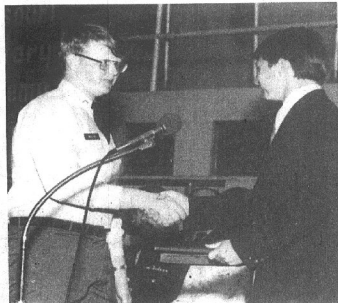

The story revolves around Joe Benjamin and a "heavenly messenger" sent to test his faith. Adding to his test is his family—his wife Rose, a typical country club matron; David, the prodigal son; and twins Ben and Sarah. Miss Parish is a 1976 Granite City high school graduate. She has been seen in the past in School of Ozarks productions of "Talanthe," "You Can't Take It With You" and "Six Characters in Search of an Author." Miss Parish will also appear in this summer's

Gun fired in window

Police are investigating the firing of a shotgun through the front picture window at the home of Connie Littlejohn, 3405 Kirkpatrick Homes, Thursday. A pellet went through an open window screen into the living room where the victim and four children, ages 3 to 14 were seated. There were no injuries.

Witnesses said a motorcycle left the area after the blast was heard. Five minutes later, a shotgun blast went through the front door at the home of Opal Nelson, 2164 Lee Ave. pellets barely missing the victim and two children. Granite City police are attempting to determine if the two incidents are related.

DR. DONALD SHANDLER

Continuing education director

Vice President and Provost Earl E. Lazerson of SIUE has announced the appointment of Dr. Don Shandler, director of the Office of Continuing Education at McKendree College, to the same position at SIUE.

The appointment, subject to confirmation by the SIUE Board of Trustees, is effective July 1.

The Office of Continuing Education at SIUE was created in November 1978 through an administrative reorganization of the Office of Off-Campus Programs. Paul J. Burns, formerly director of Off-Campus Programs, has been acting director of the new unit and is expected to continue his association with the office, Lazerson said.

The office has responsibility for continuing education courses at both off- and on-campus locations through the Office of Conferences and Institutes, development and implementation of seminars and workshops both on- and off-campus, and coordination of continuing education activities with other units, schools and departments at the university.

Lazerson said the director's responsibilities will include development and coordination of a variety of continuing education activities, including credit and non-credit courses, short courses, institutes, workshops and conferences; chairmanship of a council of continuing education whose membership will consist of interested persons from the several Schools and units; and research to identify service and program needs. The director also will investigate sources of external funding for continuing education projects and programs and administer centralized services for continuing education, as well as supervise the Office of Continuing Education.

Bond set for two teenagers

Bond was set at $5,000 each for Everett "Timmy" Hughes, 19, of 2901 Circle Drive, and Clint Wade, 18, of 108 Kirkpatrick Homes, in court in Granite City at 3:08 p.m. Thursday on charges of criminal damage to property and attempted theft.

It is alleged the two were seen attempting to break into a pay telephone at the Corner Liquor Store, 2528 Namaste Road, at 3:20 a.m. Thursday and ran when police approached. The telephone was damaged, officers said.

One youth, alleged to be Wade, was caught in a back yard behind the store, but the other got away. The youth who was caught had a screwdriver in his pocket when captured, police reported.

Wade, who was not wearing shoes, required treatment at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for a cut to his foot from stepping on something sharp, according to official reports.

Questioning of Wade led to warrants being issued for Hughes' arrest and he was seen at 25th Street and the railroad tracks at 12:30 p.m. Thursday and was taken into custody, officers concluded.

CYCLIST IS HURT
Earnest Smith Jr., 24, of 2037 Illinois Ave., was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 2:35 a.m. Saturday following a motorcycle accident. He suffered abrasions to his right knee and right thigh. X-rays were taken and he was released.

Builders and craftsmen join hands to help attract this region's rightful share of construction activity

"Blessed are the peacemakers." When IMAGE (Involvement and Management Advance Growth and Employment) was formed in 1978, its goals were improved communication and cooperation between contractors, unions, architects-engineers and customers in order to enhance and encourage construction in Southwestern Illinois.

Those objectives are well illustrated by last week's pledge of productivity and harmony regarding $100 million worth of capital improvements at Granite City Steel.

About 350 construction workers will be employed at peak times between now and 1981 as the steel plant installs $60 million in continuous casting equipment, and also converts the two basic oxygen furnace pressure vessels for improved performance, rebuilds coke ovens, and carries out other scheduled construction projects.

The work is important not only in its immediate impact but also because it will make National Steel Corporation's Granite City Steel Division more capable of holding its own in the highly competitive world steel market.

Granite City Steel has voiced considerable praise for area unions and contractors and reports encountering no major jurisdictional disputes for many years.

C. E. Cuddeh, executive director of the Council of Building and Construction Associations, said the new agreement nevertheless is helpful because of the need for more accurate national awareness of this region's outstanding existing labor-management relations. He attributed the continuing image problem to disagreements concerning expansion of the Shell Oil refinery in Roxana in 1966-67, a non-recurring episode that happened long ago but has not been forgotten.

Robert A. Weis, Bricklayers Local 65 business manager and co-chairman of IMAGE, commented at last week's press conference that "we have fine craftsmen here. We intend that this first major industrial project under IMAGE will become the guideline for industrial construction all over Southern Illinois."

Robert A. Georgine, president of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department, predicted here that the local plan will become a trend and noted that similar cooperative agreements have been developed in six U.S. metropolitan areas.

He added, "The whole posture of labor-management relationships is changing. Except when contracts are being negotiated, unions and management no longer assume an adversarial role. Labor can't get wages unless management gets contracts."

His sentiments are echoed by people of all walks of life in the Quad-City area and Southwestern Illinois.

As they are implemented, the new construction "ground rules" can do a lot toward altering recent patterns in which "sun belt" states have been attracting an excessive share of construction activity at the expense of Midwestern states.

ISMS fighting improper drug dispensing by doctors

The Illinois State Medical Society is right in acting to close loopholes by asking for a change in a law that allows physicians to improperly dispense dangerous drugs.

The ISMS action follows disclosure of profiteering by some so-called weight control clinics and some physicians who allegedly dispense indiscriminately amphetamines and other drugs with a potential for abuse.

The Society has proposed an amendment to legislation pending in the General Assembly, requiring physicians to notify the state each time they dispense a drug with a high abuse potential, according to ISMS President Dr. John Seward. The amendment is being tacked onto a package of drug reform bills proposed by the Illinois Dangerous Drugs Commission.

"Because the bills already are working their way through the legislature, the amendment will allow the Assembly to move quickly and eliminate a source of street drugs," Dr. Seward said last week. "These drugs have proven medical uses, but they are extremely dangerous when used improperly."

The ISMS amendment would require the physician to file an official duplicate prescription form with the Illinois Department of Registration and Education each time he supplies in quantity a "designated" drug to a patient. The form then would be entered into the R&E computerized monitoring system and allow quick identification of inappropriate distribution.

Gov. Thompson has been urged by the ISMS to sign another bill—passed this month by the General Assembly—which requires more detailed record keeping by physicians who dispense drugs in their offices. An ISMS amendment to SB 1096 requires physicians to record drugs given to patients without a prescription.

"The record keeping provision will give investigators a clear picture of a physician's dispensing practices as a basis for review of his activities," Dr. Seward comments. He also has called on the Dangerous Drugs Commission to place tighter controls on the drug Preludin, an amphetamine-like product. This year, ISMS supported Commission action restricting use of Talwin, a popular street drug.

In addition, ISMS has urged the State Medical Disciplinary Board to immediately investigate and, if warranted, take strong disciplinary action against physicians identified in disclosures this spring.

"The Federal Drug Enforcement Administration's Drug Abuse Warning Network (DAWN) simply is not working," Dr. Seward believes. DAWN is intended to identify unusually large purchases of dangerous drugs by individuals or clinics.

"If DAWN had been functioning properly, enforcement agencies would have been alerted to the problem uncovered in Illinois. ISMS viewed DAWN as an effective monitoring system to prevent diversion of dangerous drugs," Dr. Seward says. "Obviously we were mistaken, and additional state-level safeguards are needed."

Mrs. Reither dies

Mrs. Matilda A. (Thieman) Reither, 76, of 302 Ridgeland Ave., died at 9 a.m. Sunday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She had been ill for two years and hospitalized for 4 and one half months.

Born in Venice, she had been a Quad-City all of her life. She was a member of St. John United Church of Christ.

She was preceded in death by her husband, George Reither, in 1948.

Among her survivors are her son, George Reither Jr., Peoria, Ill.; a daughter, Mrs. Arthur (Georgia) Snelson, Granite City; eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Bubblemasters find body

The Bubblemasters Underwater Recovery Team (BURT) of Granite City recovered the body of Charles Patrick Tretter, 23, of Edwardsville, who drowned early Saturday. The body was found in a shale pit while attending a party, authorities said.

The man was discovered during a party near the shale pit. The BURT team was called into the case about 10 a.m. Saturday and found the body in 35 to 40 feet of water in about 20 minutes.

Those on the team who took part in the search were Capt. Bruce Evans, Lt. Ed Duffin, Mike Pasalich, Bill Horton, Glenn Gales, Don Dignam, Vance Weiss, Keith Speers, Bill Throm and Dena Deans.

14 given second round of tests on poisoning

The Illinois Association for Retarded Citizens tested 355 children for possible high levels of lead in their blood during the 5½ days it spent touring the Quad-City area last week; 14 of these children were taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by their parents for another blood sample, which was sent to the Illinois Department of Health in Springfield for analysis.

Of 126 children in Madison-Venice, four were positive (three percent).

Of 210 tested in Granite City, 10 or 4.7 were positive. Of 19 in Pontoon Beach, none had positive test results.

Francine McGuire was presented a check for $100 by the Granite City Jaycees at their June 20 meeting. This was to cover some of the expenses while the van was in the area.

Francine McGuire is preventive program coordinator for the IARC. She is a member of the Illinois Association for Retarded Citizens, including lead poisoning, maternal nutrition, immunization and metabolic disorders.

Dr. Pete Breslin is a technical supervisor, and has been with IARC the last two summers.

She and Dr. Breslin were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Poston during the testing in the Granite City area. Poston is the outgoing president of the Jaycees, and the Postons assisted with the van and its trip to the Quad-City.

Several Pontoon Beach volunteers from the area assisted with the door-to-door canvassing Saturday morning.

Mrs. Dorothy Baker, of the Wilson School PTA, provided the paper and printed literature distributed in the local area.

Mrs. Barbara Madison assisted with the testing for five days.

Treats were given to the children who were tested. These were provided by McDonald's Restaurant, Burger Chef, First Granite City National Bank and The First National Bank in Madison.

Free testing for thousands of children in Illinois, provided by IARC, was given to communities during the summer months, will come to an end June 30 unless more money can be made available. Several grant applications have been submitted.

The IARC approach to testing children, going into the neighborhoods and going from block to block, has protected against the possibility of a child being missed.

Bill Smithson of the Wilson PTA said. Parents who would not otherwise have their children tested without having to drive to a testing site, he noted, adding:

"A large number of children with high levels of lead in the blood were discovered through this program. Many of these children would have gone undetected until apparent symptoms began to appear, with possible permanent damage already taking place."

Miss McGuire and Dr. Breslin will return tomorrow to pick up the van and proceed to Cairo, Ill., for testing in that area.

"There were several occasions where parents drove to areas where the van was scheduled to be in order to have their children tested. In some cases they were not home when the van was in their area, and scheduled to be covered," Smithson said.

"The response by the parents to have their children tested demonstrated their concern for the health of their children. Only a few parents did not wish to have their children tested."

"St. Elizabeth Medical Center made facilities available, like last year, for the purpose of taking an additional blood sample from those who had a previous reading from the initial test conducted on the van."

"These were done on a drop-in basis, and those who were found positive that day. This was the reason the blood by block tour by the van was ended in the evening earlier than was scheduled."

"This resulted in a lack of time to visit the area between Nanticoke and Warren."

"There was also an apparent mix up in the hours at Mitchell, where the van was at the church but no one showed up."

"The testing program can be described as a success. First, because of the number of children tested, and second, anytime you discover children with high levels of lead in the blood, measures can be taken to lower the level and prevent the consequences of lead poisoning, or prevent further damage from occurring."

"Saving a child from the effects of lead poisoning, even just one child, makes the effort worthwhile."

"Lead poisoning is a silent disease, and prevention is the best medicine."

News notes

The federal department of Health, Education and Welfare last week announced it would withhold payment of $6 million in public assistance funds for Illinois, and Governor James R. Thompson vowed legal action to block the move.

Thompson said Illinois is making progress in reducing welfare fraud and abuse, and that by withholding funds HEW would hinder that process.

Thomas J. Kirkpatrick, Illinois Dangerous Drugs Commission executive director, announced Thursday Illinois has been authorized by the federal government to dispense marijuana to cancer patients to ease the side effects of chemotherapy. Illinois is the first state to receive such designation. The drug will only be dispensed through physicians to patients who meet specific medical requirements.

A shake-down at the Pontiac Correctional Center was conducted last week. Illinois Corrections Director Gayle M. Franzen said the security procedure is carried out yearly at each of the state's maximum security prisons. Total population at Pontiac is now 1,725.

Ernie Jones, Illinois Emergency Services director, said the state has paid out about $2.5 million to local-level governments for damages resulting from this spring's flooding. Jones said 360 applications with a total claim of over $7 million are expected to be received. Deadline for filing applications is June 29. Information is available by calling toll-free 800-322-2641 between 10 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on weekdays.

U.S. oil refineries curtailed crude oil production at the same time as the cutoff of Iranian oil to this nation.

The Illinois Senate Appropriations Committee on Thursday approved $202,000 for the St. Louis Area Metropolitan Area Airport Authority's 1979-80 operations.

The Illinois Senate on Friday entered an amendment requiring Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties to contribute funds to the Bi-State Transit System.

The System beginning next summer, totaling $2½ million, of the state to provide $5 million. Illinois otherwise plans to cut its appropriation to $2½ million a year after June 30, 1980. It was not specified how the counties would raise the money.

Harry Chapin will sing at the Mississippi River Festival on the SIUE campus at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Hartman has told the Press-Record that Lucas did not give him a complete set of plans for the sewer system. Additional information was needed. He also said, "I'm just the attorney here. I engineering firm. They can use any firm they want. Fortunately, they selected us and that is why we were assigned for the sewer program."

What the committee is telling me is I have to use their engineer, Ed Juneau, and they are doing everything in their power to try and make me," Lucas told the Press-Record.

I filed a suit May 16 against the county and County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer to force the county to sign an application I had to submit to the Illinois Department of Transportation. The county gave in and signed the application before we had to go to court."

"Now they are doing the same thing with the Sixth Addition to Town & Country East. I, I have filed another suit against the county for the exact same thing," Lucas stated.

"I have perfectly good, certified engineers doing my designs for sewers and water lines. The County Board, I hired M.B. Corlew & Associates of Edwardsville, and for the Burton Subdivision, I hired the firm of Flagg, Scheibel, Morgan & Schwab of Edwardsville."

"Now the county sewer committee is stalling because I have not used their engineer, Ed Juneau, as required."

Saying he found it difficult to get the county's sewer committee to take a resolution to the County Board to let the sewer committee sign the applications, Lucas went to the state's attorney's office, which prepared the resolution and presented it to the county's land use panel.

The Land Use Committee in May presented the resolution on the Burton Fifth Addition to the board and it passed. However, attempts to use the same route for the identical application on the Town & Country East Sixth Addition met with a stumbling block, which Lucas said was probably Whittell and Juneau.

H. Jack Frandsen, chairman of land use, had promised Lucas he would sign the resolution on the floor of the County Board at its June 20 meeting, Lucas contends.

However, when Frandsen gave his committee report he referred to the Burton Fifth Addition and said action on it was being withheld on the request of the sewer committee, which wanted to refer it to its attorney, Hartman, to check its legality.

Lucas said Frandsen implied that the withholding of action was at the request of Whittell.

"They don't even tell me they were going to do that," Lucas said. "When I was told that (county board) meeting, I was told it would be brought up. Hartman has studied this and he has been going to see me."

"When I gave him all the necessary documents to study before, he just asked me for more documents. I gave them to him, and he showed them to me by now," Lucas asserted.

Hartman has told the Press-Record that Lucas did not give him a complete set of plans for the sewer system. Additional information was needed. He also said, "I'm just the attorney here. I

ATTEND REUNION

The Phelps-Bird family reunion, held at the Granite City sewer system and then transferred to the county's sewers when they are completed is the cause of one of the delays.

"We just don't know if that is legal. That is one thing we are checking on. Lack of a county ordinance controlling subdivisions is one of the problems. All we can go under now is the subdivision control and land use ordinances and they are being studied."

"The county has already approved the Burton Fifth Addition, because it does not involve the Granite City sewers. That is different and needs studied," he explained.

Lucas also has had trouble with the Mitchell Public Water District, which said it would not use Juneau to design the water facilities in the Burton Fifth Addition. A separate suit now is pending against that water district filed by Attorney Norman Kinder on behalf of Lucas.

That lawsuit contends, "...the plaintiff has been advised by the Mitchell Public Water District, by and through its engineer, Ed Juneau, that he (Lucas) must deposit all money for the construction of said water supply engineering, that is, one, Mount Vernon, formerly of Granite City, committee."

Juneau responded that the fact the system was connected to the Granite City sewer system and then transferred to the county's sewers when they are completed is the cause of one of the delays.

"We just don't know if that is legal. That is one thing we are checking on. Lack of a county ordinance controlling subdivisions is one of the problems. All we can go under now is the subdivision control and land use ordinances and they are being studied."

work for the committee and I work on what they tell me to work on."

It was the Sheppard, Morgan & Schwab engineering and consulting firm, and not Hartman, which prepared the proposed ordinance setting standards for new subdivision sewers and requiring that private contractors use "a firm of the committee choosing" in preparing preliminary plans and cost estimates for the sewer work in the special service area, Lucas said.

The proposed ordinance would require that the county contract the work of installing private sewers with the developer's money, and the county would choose the contractor by bidding the work, Lucas said.

Hartman is reportedly to write the special sewer committee May 23 and said, "I have examined the preliminary draft of an ordinance submitted by Sheppard, Morgan & Schwab for the above purpose (regulating extensions of sanitary sewers)."

In the letter, Hartman asked whether or not the county would cover subdivisions already under construction or completed before the new county sewers are done. He said the regulations would be a dilemma for anybody wanting to build before the county system is ready for use. I have no suggestions for this particular problem," he said.

He also noted that the proposed ordinance would "require the developers to submit their construction requests to the sewer committee and further provide that the sewer committee shall request bids and let contracts. I do not know that the county board can delegate this authority to the sewer committee and would suggest an opinion on this matter from the state's attorney's office."

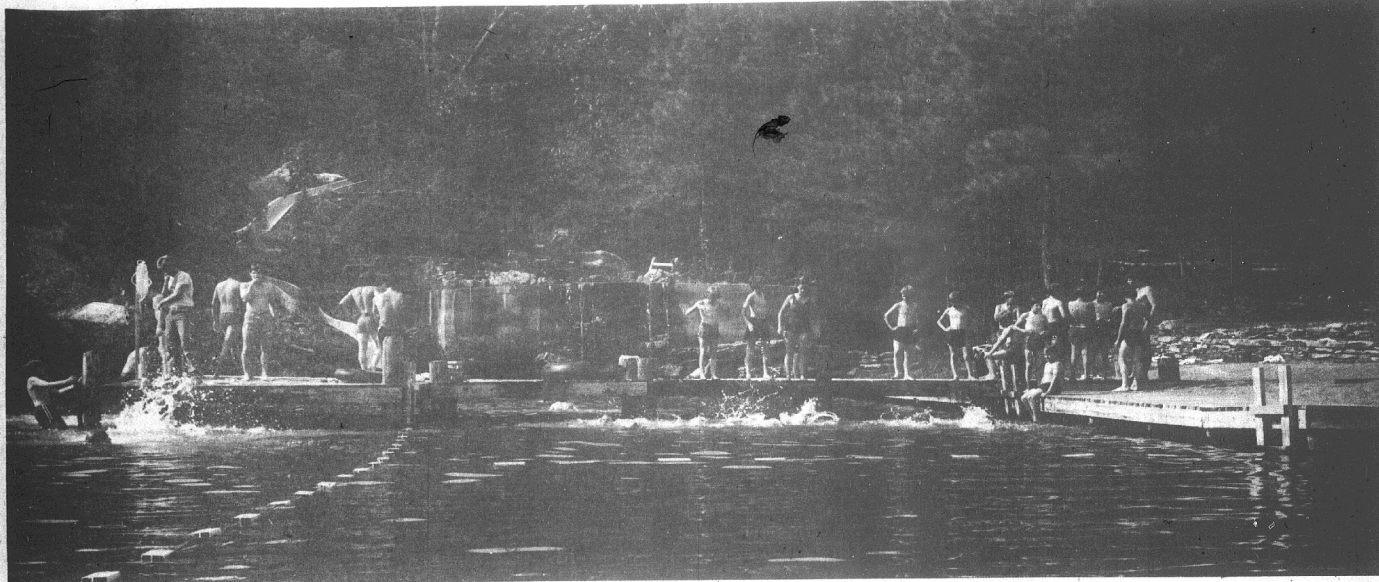

"I do not have any suggestions on how to avoid handling of the invitation for bids and letting of contracts through the county board in its normal process, but we would recommend that a builder might die a slow death during this process at the rate the county board handles these matters, in view of the fact that they may meet once a month," Hartman concluded.

Lucas contends that the sewer committee and Juneau are attempting to, in some respects, control building in the special service area, which includes parts of Nanticoke, Chouteau and Venice townships in the territory to be served by the new sanitary sewers.

"The only guidelines they should use are whether a builder has done everything legally and whether the subdivision sewers he plans to install have been designed and built to the specifications and quality required to link with the new sanitary sewers," Lucas commented.

"Everything I have done is above-board and I have no legal grounds to stop me, so they keep putting off action on my request for them to sign my EPA permit for but would add to Town and Country East. It is all in Granite City and will be hooked into the Granite City sewers until the county's sewers are done, but the Mitchell Public Water District and the Madison County Special Sewer Committee because they hired me."

Lucas concluded, "I am also working with the park district on streets, since we took the land public water district is the engineer for the park district?"

PEOPLE

OUTDOOR SPLENDOR.

At the top is the Lake St. Isaac beach, one of the favorite places at Camp Ondessonk, especially on a hot day. Red Cross-trained lifeguards help provide a safe place for youngsters to swim.

At the right, red and white sails form a colorful scene against the green woods and blue waters of Lake Echon as these boys try their hand at sailing. The camp has 12 sailboats, 30 canoes and 10 johnboats on a 40-acre body of water.

At the far right, staff members confer. Left to right are Capt. Craig Sironeaux, business manager, Fr. Vonnahmen, director, Capt. John Winklemolen, personnel director, and Ranger Scott Shetler, food service director. Over 180 work at the camp throughout the summer, providing outdoor recreation experiences for 6,000.

Below — trail's end. Two stables at the camp are kept busy providing each camper with two rides a week in the nearby Shawnee National Forest. There are 55 horses.

Ondessonk serves 6,000 boys and girls each summer

One hundred thousand children, by anyone's standards, are a lot of kids. That is the number of boys and girls who have now attended Camp Ondessonk, including 105 from Granite City, Madison and Venice this summer.

Twenty years ago, in July 1919, Camp Ondessonk opened its gates for the first of many 11, 12 and 13-year-old boys and girls to attend this summer youth camp. In the Shawnee National Forest near the little village of Ozark, Ill., a tract of 300 acres of forest wilderness was purchased by the Catholic Diocese of Belleville to be a summer camp for children.

In late 1938, Bishop Albert R. Zuroweste of Belleville had approved the plan and appointed Father Robert Vonnahmen director of the camp and the late Msgr. John Fournie of East St. Louis executive director.

Donations were collected from Catholic churches of Southern Illinois as well as other individuals who were interested in youth, for the building and development of Camp Ondessonk.

Since that time, all development, building and expansion of the camp has come through voluntary donations of funds and labor.

When the camp opened its gates to the first campers in 1919, 30 buildings had been constructed with the help of volunteer labor from churches of the area.

Five hundred boys and girls attended the camp in four different sessions of 125 each in the first year of operation.

As the time went on, the camp grew in size, both in number of children and facilities.

At present, the camp facilities include: a administration building, a large dining hall with 600 seating capacity, a chapel where daily mass is offered, a well equipped eight-bed infirmary, two stables, three dormitories and 72 shelters for campers.

The campers' shelters offer a wide variety, including little log cabins, tree houses, Viking-style lodges and cliff dwellings. Campers' shelters have no electricity or plumbing. They offer only protection for the rain and elements, and a hard bunk which the campers have to maintain themselves.

Construction of seven lakes within the camp allowed the development of a waterfront program which today includes swimming, sailing, boating, canoeing and fishing.

Lake Echon, the largest of the lakes, has a shoreline throughout the camp of several miles.

Additional land was acquired both by purchase and donation, along with the right-of-use arrangement with the national forest land, which is interlocked with the camp property and has a current acreage of 4,585.

Horseback riding and hiking are two of the major activities. Between 55 and 60 horses make up the herds of the camp, while archery, riflery, handicrafts, Indian lore and outdoor cooking — plus the aquatic activities — add to the varied programs for the children.

Each summer, Ondessonk receives 6,000 campers for one- and two-week sessions. Counselors have come from such lands as Austria, Australia, England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Ireland and Sweden.

A counselor training program also teaches high school students to become familiar with summer camp counseling, and annually about 100 16-year-old students take part in this training program at the camp.

Ten years ago, "travel camping" was introduced for high school students. This three-year "frontier" program provides a two-week camping experience each year in various parts of the United States, using unusual outdoor activities as a challenge to the high school students.

The plan consist of one year centering on mountain climbing on the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains of Colorado, plus another year spotlighting skin diving in the Florida Keys and the offshore islands of the Bahamas.

The third year, is a program of river rafting down the Green and Yampa rivers in Utah (the upper Grand Canyon).

In 1978, another complete set of programs was added to the Ondessonk schedule — a program for older adults.

These were named the Gold and Silver Frontier programs, and offer to adults the opportunities of travel in the fall, winter and spring.

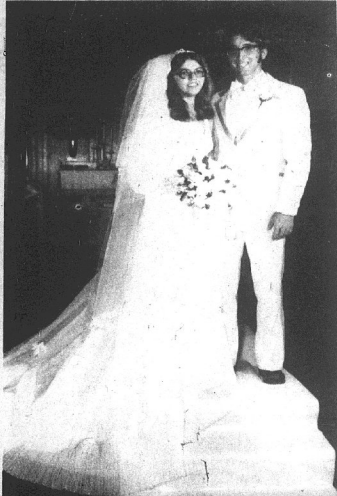

The trips offered include visits to religious shrines of Florida (Silver Frontier) and the shrines of Italy (Gold Frontier).

Each of the adults trips lasts nine days. During the last ten years of these programs, there has been annual participation of 1,000 persons.

Camp Ondessonk is located in Southern Illinois at Ozark just off Route 45 between Vienna and Harrisburg.

From Granite City, it is about a three-hour drive via I-64 and I-57.

The camp is open for visits every Saturday throughout the summer.

make the mess less

There have to be good reasons why more In-Sink-Erator disposers are sold and installed than any other make. For example, is the strongest made in the core of our disposers. Along with our 18-month electric motors.

Then we add the extra things. A tough polycarbonate shield protects against interior corrosion. Automatic reverse action extends the life of the grinding elements.

So call for In-Sink-Erator next time. To make your mess less... we make our disposers do more.

Mitchell woman gains near-normal hearing from eardrum transplants

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

"I can't sleep sometimes at night for the traffic noise. It's wonderful."

Mrs. Betty Lee Henry, 21 Moorland Drive, Mitchell, made the unusual comment in a happy tone of voice. And, she meant it too.

Betty Lee Henry now has two functional eardrums like most human beings. "Both previously belonged to other people."

She received the delicate membranes in surgical transplants.

Mrs. Henry may be the first person in history to be born without eardrums, or a canal opening of any kind inside the ear, on which this type of transplant operation has been performed. Dr. Oscar Hantz, the physician who accomplished the miracle surgery, commented after the initial operation in 1975.

A second eardrum transplant was performed last March 19.

Earlier this month Mrs. Henry returned to the surgeon's office at the Medical Center in Fergusson, Mo., where tests were conducted with special equipment under closely regulated conditions. The results were miraculous.

They showed Mrs. Henry's responses to be very close to the top level of the normal hearing range.

"It's wonderful to have holes in your head so you can hear," Mrs. Henry said jokingly.

"I hope anyone who has a serious hearing problem goes to see a doctor and gets something done about it. You don't know what you are missing. I hope through my experiences that someone else can be helped," she added.

She mentioned the noise of traffic, especially at night, but not in a complaining manner.

The family lives about two blocks from Interstate 270 and she reports listening to the sounds made by automobiles and big trucks as the pass along the major highway.

"I know that planes flying over the house are pretty high up, but I catch myself running out of the door before I think, believing they are coming down in the backyard," she said.

"My son just stands there and looks at me," she added. Mrs. Henry is the wife of Eugene Henry, a custodian at Coolidge Junior High School, and a minor problem has developed between the couple since she is able to hear very well for the first time in her life.

It's a pleasant problem, however.

"Whenever I'm listening to the stereo, or watching television I now have to turn down the volume," Mrs. Henry explains.

"Apparently, I'm turning down the sound to a point that my husband keeps complaining that it's too low for him to hear."

Dr. Hantz, an ear, nose and throat specialist, successfully performed the first eardrum transplant on Mrs. Henry in November 1975 at Christian Hospital Northwest, St. Louis.

The second transplant was performed by the same surgeon at the same medical facility last March.

Dr. Hantz is so thrilled you'd think I was his first patient," Mrs. Henry commented.

She is the first to undergo this type of extensive surgery.

The eardrum is the membrane located at the end of the ear canal, separating the external ear from the middle ear. Sound waves vibrate against the eardrum, allowing one to receive the sound and therefore to hear.

Following the 1975 surgery, Mrs. Henry had to return to the hospital for skin grafting and some corrective surgery.

This time she didn't have to go back. It wasn't necessary, for which she is thankful.

The eardrum placed in Mrs. Henry's ear cavity in the recent operation came from a donor in California.

Commissioners push for bigger bus fund

The Illinois commissioners of the Bi-State Development Agency last week sent urgent letters of appeal to mayors and officials in Madison, Monroe and St. Clair Counties seeking their assistance in encouraging Illinois legislators to support a 3-32nd amendment being considered by the legislature.

The alternative could be a drastic cut this summer in bus service in the three Illinois counties, the letters said.

Through the Downstate Public Transportation Act of 1975, the Bi-State Development Agency receives an amount equal to 2-32nd of the four-cent state sales tax collected in those three counties to pay Illinois' share of the transit operating budget.

Constantly rising costs, especially in fuel, lubricants and tires, have made the 2-32nd figure inadequate, the letters related.

In fiscal year 1979, which for Bi-State ends Saturday, June 30, the Illinois operating deficit is projected to be almost $1.1 million.

Without relief, the projected operating deficit for fiscal year 1980 will be even higher, it is being contended.

The letters from Commissioner Arthur Adams of East St. Louis, Roy J. May of Waterloo, Carl Mathias of Granite City, James S. Nations of Fairview Heights and E. Lucian DeShong of Springfield to June 20 pointed out that legislation has been under consideration in Springfield to increase to 3-32nds the money provided Bi-State.

"This increase would adequately cover the Illinois share of the operating budget," it was asserted.

Commissioner May said, "The Illinois people in the Bi-State area have got to speak up and tell their representatives that they want and need bus transportation, and to get it the 3-32nd bill must be passed."

"This is certainly not the time to be faced with possible cuts in bus service, with gasoline supplies becoming shorter and more costly every week."

Commissioner Nations, agency treasurer, added, "Failure of this legislation would limit Bi-State to only 1-32nd — and that amount only so long as an equal amount is provided by local communities."

"A funding level of 1-32nd would virtually eliminate bus service in the Bi-State area of Illinois."

Two weeks ago, Bi-State commissioners and staff met with area legislators and officials to discuss service and future funding.

At that time, Commissioner Adams expressed his concern that "service must continue uninterrupted for those who have no alternative but the bus to get to work, to the doctor, and for general mobility."

Come to Kroger to be sure you get corn that's dewy-fresh and begging to be buttered. That's why Kroger adds Cripex® clear plastic film to protect each precious ear. Sun-soaked goodness that's guaranteed to be Sweeter Fresh! Every kernel is packed with flavor and milk. The sugar's there and the tenderness, too. Take this tip: keep corn chilled to the moment of cooking. Plunge the ears into vigorously-boiling water and steam on the lid. Reduce heat to simmer and don't peek for 5 minutes. Then load the butter and bring on the butter! Isn't this what summer's all about?
